

Five years on, still going strong

What began five years ago, amidst some confusion but no lack of commitment, is now arguably the most popular (English) weekly for young Bangladeshis. When we started SHOUT, many, if not most, loyal readers of the uber-popular weekly publication which preceded it resented it. Understandable sentiment. We took it in stride, and worked harder to establish SHOUT as a unique publication that was positively, definitely, and most certainly "NOT A SUBSTITUTE".

During this journey, SHOUT has attracted some of the brightest young minds of the country; our content speaks for itself. The strength of this 5-year old comes from its expanding, passionate readership – many of whom go on to become SHOUT contributors; our content stays fresh thanks to new pool or wide-eyed writers and illustrators joining the family every few months.

As for "growing up": once you're a member of the SHOUT family, you may move on to other things but the cord remains intact.

– Karim Waheed, 1st Editor, SHOUT

THE VOID

FATIUL HUQ SUJOY

MIXTAPE

TEENAGE DREAM

THE HORRIBLE CROWES
Teenage Dream

AVRIL LAVIGNE

Here's to Never Growing Up

FUN FT. JANELLE MONÁE

We Are Young

JIMMY EAT WORLD

The Middle

KHALID

Young Dumb & Broke

THIS WEEK'S HORRORSCOPE

ARIES

If you're really looking into buying that self-help book, you're really not helping yourself.

TAURUS

You should fashion those crocs as you please. You're going to cease to exist anyway.

GEMINI

Ask everyone who disagrees with you to un-friend you, wonder why you don't have "real" friends.

CANCER

Do you really have to put up that status that says "GOAAAAAL"? Think about it.

LEO

Your spirit animal this week is a Lemur.

VIRGO

Studies confirm, performing the peacock dances helps impress desired prospect. Express yourself.

LIBRA

Pistachios are the raisins of ice-cream. Fight anyone who differs.

SCORPIO

A prolonged travel would be good for you this week. Consider going to Mirpur.

SAGITTARIUS

You might feel sad this week. Carry a mini umbrella for your tears.

CAPRICORN

Indulge in some jackfruit this week.

AQUARIUS

Your presence during a certain match might increase the chances of your team to lose. Keep yourself locked in.

PISCES

To keep the existential crisis at bay, watch Keeping Up with The Kardashians.

