7 DU students suspended for remarks on teacher

DU CORRESPONDENT

The Dhaka University (DU) authorities yesterday suspended seven students for different periods over making "derogatory" remarks about a teacher on Facebook. Khairun Nesa and Minhazul Abedin were suspended for one year while Umme Habiba Tanzila, Fatima Akter, Samia Mahzabeen, Abdullah Hil Bakee and Aditi Sarker for six months. They all are second-year students of Psychology department.

On November 26, Khairun Nesa in a Facebook post called Prof AKM Rejaul Haque of the department a "Takla" (baldie). The other students commented on the post.

Khairun Nesa, however, told The Daily Star that she did not mention any name in the post. "I was angry as I did bad in an examination on that day and made the post out of frustration."

A meeting of the university's Disciplinary Board on June 11 found the students guilty after scrutinising a probe report by the department, according to a notice issued by the proctor's office.

'RAPE', MURDER OF PURNA CHTC, MJF demand exemplary punishment

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Chittagong Hill Tracts Commission (CHTC) yesterday strongly condemned the rape and murder of a school girl in Khagrachhari and demanded exemplary punishment for the criminals. Though murder, abduction and violence against women are happening frequently in the CHT, no effective steps were taken by the local administration and the government, said a CHTC statement.

It is a blatant example of the culture of impunity at state level, the statement added.

The CHTC expressed deep concern over the nonchalant attitude of the government and the local administration.

Ten-year-old Kritika Tripura Purna, a class V student at Noimail Government Primary School, was murdered, allegedly after rape, in Dighinala upazila of Khagrachhari on Saturday.

Manusher Jonno Foundation (MJF), expressed deep shock and concern over the rape and murder of the minor and demanded exemplary punishment of the perpetrators through proper investigation. Shaheen Anam, executive director of MJF, in the state-

In another statement, human rights organisation

ment said between January and June, 23 incidents including four murders, rape, gang rape and sexual harassment in the three districts of the CHT proves that indigenous children and women are facing serious violation of human rights -- a situation that is not acceptable under any circumstances.

MJF thinks sexual violence on indigenous women and children has been increasing alarmingly as perpetrators are not getting exemplary punishment and there is a lack of accountability.

Among other organisations, Pahari Chhatra Parishad of Dighinala upazila unit, Hill Women's Federation and WE Can also demanded exemplary punishment for the murder.

Initiatives to combat human trafficking inadequate

Speakers say at discussion

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Legal instruments and policies for combating human trafficking in Bangladesh are limited to paper only -- thanks to the government's inadequate efforts in implementing those, said migration experts and human rights defenders vesterday.

Such ineptitude has been jeopardising thousands of lives at home and abroad, denying the victims due justice, while the inertia of the government is also tarnishing the country's image globally, they said at a discussion marking the World Day against Trafficking in Persons.

A platform of 17 national and international organisations, including donor agencies, arranged the discussion at the capital's Jatiya Press Club.

The Bangladesh Counter Trafficking-in-Persons (BC/TIP) a USAID funded programme, implemented by Winrock International, coordinated the initiative. They also organised a human chain in front of the press club marking the day.

Referring to data of the police headquarters, Khandoker Shohel Rana, prevention and communications manager of BC/TIP, said 4,152 cases were filed since the enactment of the Prevention and Suppression of Human
