

ANTHONY BOURDAIN

Wins Emmy Posthumously

The late Anthony Bourdain won two Emmys posthumously. He received the Emmys for his CNN travel and food series Anthony Bourdain: Parts Unknown. He received the awards for the outstanding writing for a nonfiction program and the best informational series or special. He personally won these two Emmys, but his show won four more. Anthony Bourdain, who was a celebrity chef, had won four more Emmys before his untimely death on June 8th of this year. A colleague of his accepted the writing award on his behalf. She spoke about how his writing was fiercely intelligent, and how he always kept it as real as possible.

Source: Internet

Salman Khan lashes out at PRIYANKA CHOPRA

Even though Bharat director, Ali Abbas Zafar took Priyanka Chopra's exit from the film well, the same cannot be said for the film's star, Salman Khan. A furious Salman recently revealed that Priyanka Chopra called up his sister, and the film's director innumerable times to get her in the film. According to Inshorts, Salman said, "She called up Arpita 1,000 times, saying 'I want to work with Salman', she also called up the director and said - 'See, if you can get me something in this film'." This was not the first time Salman took a jab at Priyanka. During the launch of his upcoming reality TV Show Bigg Boss Season 12, Salman said, "It was sweet of her to let us know 5 days before the start of our shooting schedule." After Priyanka Chopra left the project, Katrina Kaif took her place, and fans have welcomed the cast change.

Source: Internet

Cardi B Vs. Nicki Minaj?

The tension between rapper Cardi B and her rap nemesis Nicki Minaj escalated at the Harper's Bazaar ICONS Party on 7th September at New York City. At the party, a brawl nearly broke out when Cardi B, tried to attack Nicki Minaj. Both artists were clad in evening gowns, but that did not stop them. According to sources, Cardi said, "Let me tell you something." After she laid her eyes on Nicki, and immediately lunged at Nicki. Thankfully, they were quickly separated by security. But, as they were being pulled apart, Cardi took off one of her red platform heels and threw it at Nicki. It is also reported that Cardi left the venue immediately after the incident, while Nicki decided to stay back. Cardi B revealed in an Instagram post that she attacked Nicki because she had questioned Cardi's ability to be a good mother.

Source: Internet

