KALEY
TO THE RESCUE

Big Bang Theory star Kaley Cuoco paused her Thanksgiving celebrations to help rescue a baby seal. The actor posted a photo on Instagram where she mentioned how she had found a lost baby seal near her family's beach house in California. She said that she had called the 24 hour Marine & Wildlife Institute hotline, and asked them to send a volunteer who can assist the lost seal. She said that she was unsure if they could help since it was Thanksgiving, but later made a follow up post thanking the volunteers who had come to assist the animal. She even gave the seal a name, Sandy.
Source: Internet

Trailer For Live-Action 'Lion King' Released!

The trailer for the live-action adaption of the beloved Disney film The Lion King has been released, and it has been gaining a lot of attention. Within a day of the trailer being released, it got over 224.6 million views. The trailer became the second most viewed trailer in a day, behind Avengers: Infinity War which got 238 million views. The film, which has been directed by Jon Favreau stars Donald Glover, Seth Rogen, Beyonce and other renowned actors. The film will have a CGI and live-action mixture and is said to be similar to Favreau's The Jungle Book. The film is set to be released on July 19, 2019.

Source: Internet

Kareena's Priority – Taimur!

For quite a while now, rumors of Kareena Kapoor Khan starring in a Sanjay Leela Bhansali film have been up in the air. The actor, who was originally meant to be a part of Bajirao Mastani even shot for posters for the film. But, she never could play that role. Kareena even signed on for Ram Leela, but she had to back out, right before filming started. Things may have turned ugly between Sanjay Leela Bhansali and Kareena Kapoor Khan at that time, but it seems that the actor still wants to do a film with him. The actor revealed to DNA magazine that there's only one catch to her doing a film with Bhansali; she will only do the film when her son Taimur Ali Khan is 10 years old.

Source: Internet