The TOP 10 cars for Bangladeshi petrolheads

You really must question your luck if you are born a petrolhead, especially in country where the roads are disappearing under a growing population, petrol is of dubious quality and the tax structure is ridiculous, making good, cheap cars become outrageously expensive. A new Toyota Corolla is near about Tk 40 lakh. An Allion or Premio (basically upgraded, marginally bigger Corollas) are similarly priced, used. In most developed countries however, these cars are just basic transportation. Despite all that,
