

UNDP, govt sign $33m climate adaptation project

UNB, Dhaka

The government and the UNDP yesterday signed an agreement to implement a $33 million project, to build adaptive capacity of women to cope with impacts of climate change.

Secretary to Economic Relations Division (ERD) Monowar Ahmed and UNDP Country Director Sudipto Mukherjee signed the project document at the ERD yesterday.

No room for boarders

Chowdhury Mess on Green Road, which has 72 tin-roofed rooms – accommodating more than 300 service holders, businessmen and students – had a handful of residents yesterday.

Meanwhile, Dhaka Metropolitan Police put up a notice on its website saying that it had given no instruction for single boarders to leave boarding houses in the capital.

Mahmud A Shameen Beni, additional secretary of the women and children affairs ministry, signed the document as implementing partner.

The funding will be utilised for a six-year project, “Enhancing adaptive capacity of coastal communities especially women to cope with climate change-induced salinity” expected to benefit about 7 lakh people, half of whom are women living in southwestern districts.

ensure mobility of journalists for election observation and media coverage. On December 21, an EC guideline for journalists mentioned that no EC sticker would be given for motorcycles.

Meanwhile, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in a statement yesterday said nine international organisations and a dozen foreign missions are set to observe the election with their 188 observers.

In addition, 56 foreign journalists and media personnel are set to cover the election. A number of them are already in the country.

The government has already set up an International Election Observers’ Coordination Cell. A unit of the cell started operating at Sonargaon hotel while a help desk is already operational at Dhaka airport.

allegations. Police rather provided security to Nabiullah during campaign, he told this paper over phone.

Campaign for Habibur Rahman Molla, AL candidate in the constituency, was in full throttle. His supporters were seen campaigning in Kazla and Dholaipar around noon. Alongside door-to-door campaign, several rickshaws playing songs seeking vote for “boat” were seen plying on different roads.

Some rickshaws playing campaign songs for Islami Andolon Bangladesh (IAB) candidate Altaf Hossain were also seen in the area since morning.

Dhaka-10 constituency was decorated with posters, banners and stickers of AL nominee Sheikh Fazle Noor Taposh.

Some torn posters of Oikyafront candidate Abdul Mannan were seen hanging at City College area.

This paper talked with residents of Dhanmondi, Hazaribagh and Kalabagan areas. They said there is no party except AL in the field.

Campaigns for Jatiya Party and IAB were seen three to four days ago but they have vanished now, locals said.

Some women activists of BNP tried to campaign at Hazaribagh area on December 26, but failed, said a local.

Some said they did not even know names of other party candidates.

No sign of election campaigns for Oikyafront and 20-party alliance candidates were seen across Mirpur and Agargaon areas, which were dominated by ruling party candidates.

Posters of AL nominees Kamal Ahmed Majumdar of Dhaka-15, Ilias Uddin Molla of Dhaka-16, Aslamul Haque of Dhaka-14, and Home Minister Asaduzzaman Khan Kamal of Dhaka-12 were seen everywhere.

AL supporters brought out processions on Kazi Nazrul Islam Avenue, 60 Feet and Agargaon areas yesterday.

Posters of IAB and JP candidates were also seen. However, Jasim Uddin, a hawk at Mirpur-10 intersection and voter of Dhaka-16, said “People don’t know who the opposition candidate is.”

She said her government’s aim is to further improve people’s living standard. “For this, in our election manifesto, we have declared to build every village as a town.”

“We will construct flats for slum-dwellers so everyone can lead a better life,” she added.

The premier expressed her determination to build Bangladesh in the non-communal spirit where there will be no difference between the rich and poor.

At the end of her speech, the prime minister recited from poet Sukanta Bhattacharya’s “Chharpatra”.

She recited, “Choley jabo, tobu aaj jatakkhan dehe achey pran, prapnoy prithibir sorabo janjal... e bishwoke shishur basjoggya kore jabo ami” (I’ll leave, but I’ll clear the odds with all my efforts for as long as I live. I’ll make the earth liveable for children).

Later, the premier visited a terracotta mural set up on the wall of the PMO main gate, sculpted by Muhammad Arifuzzaman Nur Nabi.

PM’s Principal Secretary Md Nojibur Rahman moderated the event where her Political Affairs Adviser HT Imam, PMO Principal Coordinator on SDG Abul Kalam Azad, Military Secretary Maj Gen Mia Mohammad Zainul Abedin, PMO Secretary Sajjadul Hassan and Press Secretary Ihsanul Karim spoke.

PMO Director General Begum Nasim Afroz, Special Security Force DG Maj Gen Mujibur Rahman, PMO Protocol Officer Khurshid-ul-Alam and Assistant Director Mokbul Hossain also addressed the event.

of Awami League-led alliance candidate Didarul Alam from Chattogram-4 (Sitakunda) were burnt and vandalised at Gozaria and Bhuinypara areas on the same day. But the RO’s report termed the situation to be normal in the area.

Though attacks on campaigns became a regular phenomenon since December 10, which also flooded local and national dailies, the RO’s reports mention the situation in almost all constituencies to be normal.

While contacted, the RO said these reports are confidential, and asked this correspondent how he obtained those and wanted to see copies.

“We send several versions of reports; I don’t know which version you got,” he added.

has been doing the rounds that law enforcement agencies will remain with them [Awami League], and a meeting with presiding officers was held in this regard, deciding that no one will go against the government,” he said.

He also alleged that “Awami goons” have been torching BNP offices and houses of the minority community, and blaming BNP for all those horrific activities.

“We’re in the election and will remain there till the end,” he added.

in Chattogram-5, said he was working closely with local AL leaders and activists.

AL candidate in Chattogram-9 constituency Mohibul Hasan Chowdhury alleged that he was afraid of probable violence conducted by Jamaat-Shibir men in polls.

“Canadian and British delegations called on me several days ago and asked me about the role of Jamaat-e-Islami in BNP-led alliance,” he said. “They also asked me whether I have any apprehension about them.”

“I told them that I am concerned recalling the anarchy and violence conducted by BNP and Jamaat-Shibir men between 2013 and 2015,” said Mohibul.

AL candidate in Chattogram-4 constituency Didarul Alam said leaders and activists of AL took preparations to combat BNP-Jamaat men in case they “repeat anarchy and violence” on Dhaka-Chattogram highway in Sitakunda area.

government should be youth-friendly. “It’s unfortunate that we have only a few options. So, when casting our votes, we’ll have to think about who can solve our problems.”

Another fresh voter, Mahid Khan, whose father is a freedom fighter, said, “We don’t want to choose anyone who is affiliated with anti-liberation forces.”

A number of first-time voters also said they preferred reformation in the quota system for public service jobs and admissions at higher educational institutions.

Many others said besides creation of new jobs, they would like to see expansion of digital services and access to information and communication technology in all spheres of life.

Taking the significant number of fresh voters into consideration, candidates and political parties are also trying to sway the youth during their electioneering.

Awami League’s Barishal city unit

President Golam Abbas Chowdhury said leaders and workers of his party are explaining young voters about AL’s success in the digitalisation of the country as well as promises the party has made in the new manifesto for further development in the sector.

BNP’s Central Organising Secretary Bilkis Jahan Shirin said BNP has elaborate plans to address the issues that concern the youth most.

According to data provided by the Election Commission, out of the 2,49,321 new voters in six constituencies in Barishal district, 1,14,486 are women.

Among the constituencies, Barishal-1 (Gournadi and Agailjhara upazilas) has 2,57,220 voters, Barishal-2 (Ujirpur and Banaripara) 3,01,397, Barishal-3 (Muladi and Babuganj) 2,53,414, Barishal-4 (Mehendiganj and Hizla) 3,24,128, Barishal-5 (city corporation and Sadar) 3,97,267, and Barishal-6 (Bakerganj) has 2,45,159 voters.

terminal said they have been dealing with unusual number of passengers in the last few days.

Taking advantage of the situation, some unscrupulous bus operators have increased bus fare.

“The normal fare for Dhaka [Phulbaria bus terminal] to Shimula ferry terminal is Tk 70 and for air-conditioned (AC) buses, it is Tk 100 but they are charging Tk 100 and Tk 130 for non-AC and AC buses respectively,” Bappi Hossain, a passenger, said.

Sadarghat launch terminal also witnessed a huge rush of passengers.

Badiuzzaman Badal, senior vice-chairman of Bangladesh Inland Waterways (passenger carrier’s) Association, said people are leaving Dhaka to vote in their constituencies and enjoy respite at home over the holiday.

NC Shaha, station master of Kamalapur Railway Station, said although the station witnessed massive turnout on Wednesday, crowd was not as big yesterday.

Jahangir Alam, a rickshaw-puller from Gaibandha, said many rickshaw-pullers have already left Dhaka.

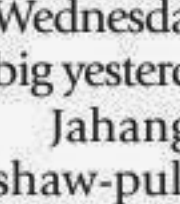

“Around 200 of us [rickshaw-pullers] stay at a garage in Shahinbagh in the capital. All but six have left Dhaka,” Jahangir said.

“I was supposed to leave Dhaka today but election in our constituency has been postponed as a candidate died,” he said.

Jahangir also said one candidate from Gaibandha has sent buses to take rickshaw-pullers home.
