

Ending the shame surrounding menstruation

Pad Bank providing free sanitary napkins

MD MIZANUR RAHMAN HIMADRI

Fourteen year old Jhorna Akhter started getting her period recently. Along with physical changes during puberty, she is faced with change in emotional state as well.

She and her friends are often teased when their uniforms accidentally get stained during their monthly cycle, leading to a sense of deep embarrassment.

But the "All For One Foundation" has brought about a dramatic change in the lives of these disadvantaged girls in their formative years.

"I am relieved to know that our school now has a 'Pad Bank'," said Jhorna, a class VII student of Dhamalkot Ideal High School and College in Mirpur in Dhaka.

"The foundation has taught me that menstruation is not a matter of shame."

"I was never informed about the do's and don'ts of menstrual hygiene because I was raised in a poor, uneducated family. My mother taught me to use an old piece of cloth each month and that is what I followed. Thanks to all the members of 'All For One', who are helping girls to be confident during their vulnerable time," Jhorna said.

Female hygiene products are still a prized commodity for underprivileged adolescent girls in Bangladesh. Using unclean cloth can lead to fungal infection, urinary and reproductive tract infection, and even make women vulnerable to infertility.

Kamrun Nesa Mira, a graduate from University of Liberal Arts Bangladesh in Media Studies and Journalism, started the initiative on March 26 last year.

With the slogan "Her period is the power", the aim of the organisation is to provide sanitary napkins and break the taboo surrounding a basic monthly hygiene issue.

Jhorna says she was always stressed about getting her periods suddenly at school. "But now I feel free, as I can easily get a sanitary napkin from the small

'USING MONEY TO INFLUENCE POLLS' 3 arrestees sent to jail

COURT CORRESPONDENT

A Dhaka court yesterday sent three individuals to jail -- arrested for their alleged involvement in distributing money to influence the recently-held national election and instigate violence -- on completion of their five-day remand.

Before passing the order, Metropolitan Magistrate Abu Sufian Md Noman rejected their bail petitions, after their lawyer submitted petitions for them in the case.

The three accused are: Joynal Abedin, Alamgir Hossain and Ali Haider. Sub-inspector Md Faruque Hossain of Motijheel Police Station, investigation officer of the case, produced them before the court and appealed to the court to keep them in jail until the probe is complete.

In yesterday's forwarding report, the IO said he gathered vital information from them, which was being verified.

Ali is the managing director of United Enterprise and Corporation, while Joynal and Alamgir are employees of Amena Enterprise and Services Trust Ltd, a company owned by Mia Nuruddin Ahmed Apu, who was a Jatiya Oikyafront candidate from Shariatpur-3 constituency. He was defeated in the December 30 election.

On December 26, Rapid Action Battalion (Rab) filed the case with Motijheel Police Station accusing six persons, including Mia Nuruddin, a day after the trio was arrested by the elite force.

Speaking at a press conference in front of United Corporation in Motijheel on the day of the arrest, Rab Director General Benazir Ahmed had said they seized Tk 8 crore and several cheques worth around Tk 10 crore from their possession.

He claimed the three had distributed about Tk 150 crore in various constituencies to instigate violence and influence the polls.

Rab sources said acting on information, they raided United Corporation and arrested Ali Haider. Gleaning information from Haider, Rab raided Amena Enterprise and detained two others.
