

Six of a blackmailing gang arrested

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Barishal

Barishal Metropolitan Police (BMP) arrested six members of a blackmailing gang in different areas of the city on Tuesday.

The arrestees are Sumon Sardar, 26, Munna Chowdhury, 27, Monir Hawladar, 25, Tanvir Khan, 26, Zulhas Sardar, 26, and Sumi Akhtar, 25.

Police also seized eight mobile handsets and Tk 13,000 in cash from the possession of the arrestees.

BMP Commissioner Mosharrif Hossain yesterday disclosed the information at a press conference at the BMP Headquarters.

The arrestees, during primary interrogation, confessed that they used to collect ransom from men after luring them to their den where they would secretly record video of the victim with one of their female gang members.

The arrestees were sent to jail after a case was filed with Kawnia Police Station against them under anti-pornography and human trafficking laws, the BMP commissioner said.

protein concentrate for chicken, after discovering that some businesses were importing low-quality MBM through misdeclaration.

Low quality MBM, which may be infected with mad cow disease, can have a serious impact if imported. Besides, there are bacteria, antibiotic or hormone in the MBM, which are harmful for human health, Hiresh said.

Not only MBM, harmful ingredients may be found in other animal feed as well, he said.

The DSL, along with Rab, is also conducting drives against low-quality animal feed and has destroyed a good amount of feed made of tannery waste, which is tainted with chromium, in Hazaribagh and Savar areas this week, he added.

The customs officials at Chittagong Port have also been asked to strengthen inspection of all sorts of animal and poultry feed.

"We asked the customs authorities to test samples of animal and poultry feed. So, there is no way now to import such feed through misdeclaration," Hiresh said.

Poultry and feed industries praised the government initiative for safe feed, but said banning MBM would have adverse impact on the poultry industry as it would increase the production cost by at least 10 percent.

A tonne of MBM costs around USD 600 whereas its alternative -- fish meal (made of dried sea fish) -- costs USD 1,200-1,350 per tonne, they said at a press conference in the city on Tuesday.

Feed Industries Association Bangladesh and Bangladesh Poultry Industries Central Council demanded that the government lift the ban and ensure strict monitoring to check import of low-quality animal and poultry feed.

the chairman and the Information Commission as the chief information commissioner.

Regarding Mahfuz Anam, the citation said, "In the 25 years of his editorship, The Daily Star has become the country's largest circulating English daily."

"The newspaper remains at the forefront of the crusade for justice, human rights, democracy, and the right to freedom of expression," the citation added.

While speaking on the occasion, Prof Golam Rahman said, "The state of media represents the state of democracy in a country... Though media in the country is independent, there is self-censorship."

Stressing cooperation between educational institutions and the media, he said, "News outlets can provide internship opportunities and more access for journalism students to acquire practical knowledge."

Meanwhile, Mahfuz Anam highlighted the necessity of "independent journalism" for the welfare of the country.

"Among many reasons why socialism was defeated by capitalism, one important aspect was the absence of independent journalism [and individual liberty] in a socialist society," said Mahfuz Anam.

"Independent journalism serves the society through raising questions... independent journalism has a symbiotic relationship with a democratic government," he said.

"In my 25 years of editorship, I still haven't managed to convince the government that independent journalism benefits the state. Still, the government sees us with suspicion... They consider independent journalism to be a nuisance," he said.

"Constructive criticism is taken as an attempt to tarnish the image of the government," he said, adding, "Without realising that this is for their own good."

About the future of journalism, he said, "Without fundamental reforms newspapers will not survive. The good news is even if newspaper [in the traditional sense] doesn't survive in future, journalism will."

We see many children with mixed learning abilities, physical disabilities, visual impairment and speech difficulties," said Iffat Farhana, education officer, Unicef Cox's Bazar. "Each of these children has a right to education. With more learning centres and more teachers, Unicef hopes to reach every child to help them learn, grow and realise their potential."

Unicef is also targeting adolescents with educational training to develop their knowledge and vocational skills.

Currently 97 percent of adolescents and youths aged 15 to 24 do not receive any education in the refugee camps. This group is extremely vulnerable to child marriage, child labour, human trafficking, abuse and exploitation.

A Unicef report last year warned that without urgent action, these teenagers are at risk of becoming a lost generation.

"It is through these targeted interventions that Unicef is striving to provide education to the hardest-to-reach children, many of whom have severe vulnerabilities," Beigbeder said. "Our aim is to ensure they can be equipped with the knowledge and skills they require to navigate their future."
