Popular art magazine Shilpoprobha has stepped into its 7th year journey. To celebrate the occasion, the Shilpoprobha team honoured six distinguished artists with lifetime achievement awards. The event was held at Gulshan's Edge Gallery on January 22. Society for Promotion of Bangladesh Art (SPBA) organised the programme.

The distinguished artists who received the honour are Mustafa Monowar, Samarjit Roy Choudhury, Hashem Khan, Rafiqun Nabi, Monirul Islam and Kanak Chapa Chakma. Artist Nisar Hossain, art critic Zahid Mustafa, artist and critic Rashid Amin, art critic and researcher Sylvia Naznin and young art curator Kehkasha Sabah were also awarded with special honours.

"SPBA will always support the country's artists and will especially nurture young talents," expressed SPBA Chairman and Shilpoprobha's publisher Anjan Chowdhury. "We are delighted to honour the artists of Bangladesh. Their contribution is endless and incredible." At the event, SPBA's founder chairman Aldem B Kabir also spoke. Distinguished artists, poets, art critics, ambassadors and art collectors attended the event. Rafi Haque, artist and editor of Shilpoprobha was also present.

Celebrated singer Kanak Chapa also has a knack for writing, as two of her books are about to be published in this year's Ekushey Boi Mela. One of them is the second part of Kataghuri, the predecessor to which was published in last year's Boi Mela. The cover of this book was done by Dhruba Esh. Shei Pothe Jao, also scheduled to release in the fair, is a children's book with stories from which valuable lessons can be derived. Both the books are to be published by Ananya.

The 2019 Oscar nominations

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT DESK

Nominations for the 2019 Oscars were announced recently. Roma and The Favourite each walked away with 10 nominations. The Academy also looked kindly on Green Book (five nominations), A Star Is Born (seven nominations), Bohemian Rhapsody (five nominations), BlackKkKlansman (six nominations), Black Panther (seven nominations), and Vice (eight nominations).

Rami Malek and Glenn Close, who took out best actor and actress at the Golden Globes, were both nominated for Oscars. Christian Bale (Vice), Bradley Cooper (A Star Is Born), Willem Dafoe (At Eternity's Gate), and Viggo Mortensen (Green Book) were also nominated for best actor.

Olivia Colman's nod for best actress for The Favourite followed the announcement that both Emma Stone and Rachel Weisz also received nods in the best supporting actress category for the film. Yalitza Aparicio (Roma), Glenn Close (The Wife), Lady Gaga (A Star Is Born), and Melissa McCarthy (Can You Ever Forgive Me?) are also up for best actress, while Amy Adams (Vice), Marina de Tavora (Roma), and Regina King (If Beale Street Could Talk) received attention in the best supporting actress category.

Cooper missed out on a directing nod for A Star Is Born, but Spike Lee earned his first best director nomination for BlackKkKlansman—it's also his first best picture nomination. As predicted by many industry watchers, there were no female nominees for directing; Barry Jenkins, who spearheaded 2017's best picture, Moonlight, also didn't make an appearance in the category.

Mahershala Ali (Green Book), Adam Driver (BlackKkKlansman), Sam Elliott (A Star Is Born), Richard E. Grant (Can You Ever Forgive Me?), and Sam Rockwell (Vice) were nominated for best supporting actor. But fans were disappointed not to see Timothée Chalamet nominated for Beautiful Boy.

Lady Gaga and Bradley Cooper's hit

The Favourite

duet Shallow will face off for best song against nominees including All the Stars from Black Panther and The Place Where Lost Things Go from Mary Poppins Returns.

Best Picture will be a battle between Black Panther (a first for Marvel), BlackKkKlansman, Bohemian Rhapsody, Green Book, Roma, A Star Is Born, Vice, and The Favourite. There is still plenty of time to watch all the films, before the awards are handed out in February.
