

RESPECT IS A TWO-WAY STREET

Small steps us men could take can make the world a safer place for women by a lot. No one's asking anyone to fundamentally change overnight. It's all about treating a human being better and stepping in when toxic behaviour manifests. Y'know when your friend uses the "S" word to describe a girl after a breakup? That's uncalled for and it's just vindictive behaviour. When a girl does well in her field, a lot of guys automatically reach for the "It's because she's pretty" card and that simply discredits all her hard work. While a lot of men might think that such "locker room talk" is simply that and should not be taken seriously, that is not the case. It creates an environment where misogyny is accepted, if not spread. So the next time a friend or an acquaintance decides to belittle a person based on their gender, you should talk to your bro, bro.

APP REVIEW

DO YOU KNOW YOUR PLANTS?

FAISAL BIN IQBAL

Platform: Android/iOS

PlantSnap is a plant identifying application that can recognize all kinds of plants, flowers, leaves and even mushrooms. It uses your phone's camera to capture a picture of the plant or flower in question. Afterwards, the application takes about ten seconds to analyse the picture before it gives its final verdict on the plant's name. It is not necessary that the plant will have to exist physically for the picture to be taken and the app to work. You can even take the picture of the plant from a screen and the app will still be able to give you accurate results.

Accuracy will also depend on the quality of the picture that you take and as well as your camera. On my attempt with a moderate camera, the app delivered accurate results 9 out of 10 times. It is has a fairly simple user interface and is quite engaging once you start using it.
