Magical way to get rich

The rise of five yaba lords

MOHAMMAD JAMIL KHAN and MOHAMMAD ALI JINNAT, from Cox's Bazar

Take a trip down the Cox's Bazar-Teknaf highway, and you cannot miss the eye-catching duplex building by the main road near Leda station.

It belongs to Nurul Huda, 36, a member of Hnila union council in Teknaf. But that is not the only shoe he wears.

He is also a listed drug dealer wanted in 10 cases. Luckily though, Huda is now safe in a government "safe home" like at least 62 more suspected "yaba kingpins" who surrendered to police last week.

More such surrender of listed drug dealers is expected in the coming weeks.

Huda's younger brother Nurul Kabir, also wanted in a number of cases, is also in the "safe home" inside the Cox's Bazar Police Lines compound, police sources said.

Only 10 years ago, Huda used to drive rented cars. His five brothers used to earn their living by fishing or working as day labourer in local salt fields.

But thanks to the powerful magic of yaba, the crazy pink pill, the family now owns a dozen "luxury" buildings and acre after acre of land, police and locals said.

Visiting the area and talking to locals yesterday, The Daily Star managed to get a glimpse of the early life of four other

Three killed in Cox's Bazar 'gunfights'

Two were 'drug traders', Rab says

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Cox's Bazar

Two drug traders and a robber were killed in separate "gunfights" with law enforcers in Teknaf and Moheshkhali upazilas early yesterday, officers claimed.

Including them, at least 285 people have been shot dead since law enforcers launched a crackdown on drug dealing on May 4 last year.

After most of the incidents, police or Rab said the people killed were drug dealers and they were shot during gunfights or shoot-outs involving officers.

In Teknaf, Rab said two drug traders were shot dead during a gunfight with officers early yesterday. But Rab could not identify the two men who, according to the

RUNNING FOR DUCSU POLLS

Eligibility crisis

Only five out of 24 top leaders of six major student bodies are regular students of DU

AASHIQ ABDULLAH APU

Most of the top leaders of student bodies affiliated with major political parties are not eligible to run in the upcoming Ducsu polls, as per the charter of the student platform.

Two sub-sections of the constitution say only regular students attached to dorms with all their annual subscription fees paid can become members of the Dhaka University Central Students' Union (Ducsu), which would go to polls on March 11.

Dhaka University, the country's first university, currently offers four-year bachelor's degree and one-year master's degree at 83 departments and 12 institutes.

Without becoming an irregular student, a student can complete graduation and post-graduation in eight years (bachelor's in six years and post-graduation in two years).

"Those currently doing honours or masters within the eight-year timeframe can be members and candidates," said Prof Mizanur Rahman, convener of a committee formed to amend the Ducsu constitution.

The law professor noted that students of private courses, like evening or executive, cannot be Ducsu members.

Looking into six major student bodies, it was found that only five out of 24 presidents and general secretaries were regular students of DU.

TALENT COMPETITIVENESS

Bangladesh in bottom 10

Ranks 118th among 125 countries in global index

WASIM BIN HABIB and MOHAMMAD AL MASUM MOLLA

Bangladesh remains among the bottom 10 countries in terms of developing, attracting and retaining talent, shows a new global report.

It is ranked 118th out of 125 countries in the 2019 Global Talent Competitiveness Index (GTCI) that measures a nation's competitiveness based on the quality of talent it can develop, attract and retain.

Last year, the country held the 114th position among 119 nations in the GTCI.

The index, compiled by INSEAD, a global business school, in partnership with Tata Communications and Adecco Group, provides a unique resource for decision-makers to understand the picture of global talent competitiveness and develop strategies for boosting talent competitiveness.

The annual benchmarking report, launched in 2013, assesses the capability of countries to contest for talent.

State Minister for Religious Affairs Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah made the announcement yesterday from a meeting held at religious affairs ministry in presence of delegations from two feuding groups of the Tablighi Jamaat, reports UNB.

Organising the Bishwa Ijtema, also called the 'World Muslims' Congregation, every year since 1946, the Tablighi Jamaat authorities in 2011 split the Ijtema into two phases, dividing the participation of the 64 districts, to reduce pressure at the venue and ensure better management and security.

Padma bridge likely to be opened to traffic in mid-2020

REJAUL KARIM BYRON and TUHIN SHUBHRA ADHIKARY

The much-anticipated Padma Bridge is expected to open to traffic within June next year, as the complexity over some of the piers has been addressed.

"We hope vehicles will be able to use the bridge by the middle of 2020," Prof Jamilur Reza Choudhury, chairman of the government's panel of experts on Padma Bridge, told The Daily Star on Monday.

He, however, said the contractor would have to considerably speed up the work to meet the deadline.

Around 900metres of the bridge is now visible as the sixth span (superstructure) of the 6.15-km bridge was installed at Jazira point in Shariatpur on Wednesday.

The first span of the bridge was installed on September 30, 2017.

Once constructed, the bridge will directly connect the capital to 21 southern districts, through road and railways.

Two major components of the project are the main bridge and river training.

Seventy-three percent work of the main bridge and 50 percent work of river training have been completed, Road Transport and Bridges Minister Obaidul Quader said at a views-exchange meeting with the officials of the Bridge Division of his ministry on Sunday.

Meanwhile, Jamilur said the complexity over the design of some 14 piers was now over.

He said differences emerged between the information obtained through geotechnical investigation in the design phase and construction phase.

"The soil profiles were assumed in the design are slightly
