

WELCOME TO THE DESERT

The storm that never ends, well, why did it ever have to begin?

As the motorcycle I was riding snaked through traffic, for the umpteenth time this month, the unthinkable happened. I understand that it's not unthinkable if it keeps happening but I was surprised by it nonetheless, when the cacophony of Dhaka's 34 billion motor vehicles was outdone in its hazardous existence by something else. You can only see it as a haze, or maybe see little specs of it if you follow the outline of the headlights the aforementioned motor vehicles emit when the sun goes into premature hiding. The dust is there and when you're surrounded by it, it's hard to remember a time before it. Your beard reminds you of the better days though, because when you get home and touch it after a day spent outdoors, you're surprised to realise that it's been replaced by some coarse synthetic fibre during the course of the day. The point is, wear a mask or something.

– Azmin Azran, Sandman, SHOUT

APP REVIEW

TODOIST YOUR LIFE TOGETHER

AAQIB HASIB

Platforms: Android, iOS, Web

Todoist is unlike any other app in the productivity category. Traditionally Todoist can be deemed an organisational or task management app, which helps you add and keep track of all your important tasks.

However, Todoist also ventures into keeping the user organised by providing options to differentiate tasks via, multiple, custom projects, priority levels, dates and labels. Where the app really shines is the integrated widget which lets users add, check-off and edit tasks from their home screens. You can even have multiple Todoist widgets to display different projects or layout plans for the next week or so.

Todoist also has an extension on Google Chrome that you can use to access all of your upcoming tasks via your browser when using your laptop or desktop. Moreover, the developers recently added an option for Todoist to sync with your Google Calendar, so that all of the tasks which you add to Todoist are displayed on your calendar for further ease.

Finally, Todoist lets users track their Karma, which is an analysis into how well the user is performing at their tasks. You can set goals on how many tasks you wish to complete in a week, and you get Karma points every time you reach your set goals.

MIXTAPE

HIDE & SEEK

METALLICA

Seek and Destroy

KISS

Hide Your Heart

DAYA

Hide Away

SNOW PATROL

How to Be Dead

IMOGEN HEAP

Reach out to us at shoutds@gmail.com

THIS WEEK'S HORRORSCOPE

ARIES

Where do you think you are going, good sir?

TAURUS

Your existence is important to the universe.

GEMINI

Cats only like people who don't like cats.

CANCER

Dogs only like people who like dogs and those who don't like dogs.

LEO

Echoes are fun, but you need a high-pitched voice.

VIRGO

My favourite person told me to tell you that you're alright.

LIBRA

Always share your chips.

SCORPIO

I cry for the people who cry to songs by Taylor Swift.

SAGITTARIUS

When will you invite your friends to your new house?

CAPRICORN

Echoes are fun, but you need a high-pitched voice.

AQUARIUS

Are you even sad?

PISCES

Don't go chasing dragons, chase butterflies instead.

