

Entrepreneur found dead in Ctg, suspect on the run

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Ctg

A woman entrepreneur was found dead inside the storeroom of her café in Halishahar Housing Estate in Chattogram city late on Monday, that police are suspecting to be a murder.

The deceased was identified as Lucky Akhter, 32, residing at Block-K of the residential area, said Pranit Chakma, assistant sub-inspector at Halishahar Police Station. Her husband is a Sri Lankan expatriate.

Lucky, owner of KS Spicy Café and Large Design Boutique House in the area, was found dead at the storeroom of her café at 11:30pm, said the ASI, adding that the prime suspect, Md Khaled Noor was the manager of the café.

"Lucky was hit with a heavy object to her face. The manager of the cafe has been absconding since the incident," said Bazul Rahman, inspector (investigation) of Halishahar Police Station.

Mamun Howlader, brother of the deceased, told The Daily Star that manager Khaled used to live at the storeroom of the café.

"My sister went to the store on Monday night with her three-month-old baby in her arms, to talk with Khaled about some business matters. It was not out of routine, as she used to do it often. But I became anxious as she did not return by 11pm," said Mamun, a college student who used to live with Lucky.

As he reached the store, Khaled came out and told him that Lucky had headed for her home on a rickshaw few minutes ago, said Mamun. "But I did not find her at home when I returned," he added.

Mamun said at 11:30pm he received a phone call from a man telling him that his sister was murdered at the store of the café. He claimed that voice was Khaled's.

"I then rushed to the store again and with the help of locals, broke the door to find my sister's dead body. My nephew was lying beside his mother's dead body," he said, adding, Khaled might have had financial feud with his sister.

SM Obaidul Haque, OC of Halishahar Police Station, said a murder case was filed, and police were trying to arrest Khaled. The body was sent to Chattogram Medical College morgue for post-mortem.

Dogs poisoned at Sylhet Agricultural Univ

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Sylhet

At least 18 dogs were poisoned, allegedly at the order of a professor at Sylhet Agricultural University (SAU), on Monday night.

SAU students caught a staff member red-handed who confessed that he was ordered by a professor and had poisoned 18 dogs.

Abdus Sukur Imran, a master's student of the university, said, "Around 7pm, some students found a dog in the drain. They informed animal rights activists who rescued the dog."

"We initially thought the dog was bitten by snake, but later realised it was poisoned. After a search, we found eight more poisoned dogs on the campus. We contacted some senior teachers and tried to give the dogs medical treatment, but two died instantly."

"We caught Juwel Miah, an employee of the university, who was carrying poison and food. He admitted that a professor ordered him to kill the dogs," Imran added.

Imran also told The Daily Star that they returned to the hall around 2am but in the morning did not found any dogs on the campus.

"There are around 25 stray dogs on the campus but in the morning, not a single one could be located. Not even the dead dogs. Someone must have removed all of them during the night," he said.

According to the section 7 of the Cruelty to Animals Act 1920, "If any person kills any animal in an unnecessarily cruel manner, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred taka, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with both: Provided that nothing in this section shall render it an offence to kill any animal in a manner required by the religion or religious rites and usages of any race, sect, tribe or class, or for any bona fide scientific purpose or for the preparation of any medicinal drug."

Moreover, the High Court on November 26 last year ordered to take preventive steps against torturing and killing of animals and dog culling in the most sadistic manner.

Protesting the cruelty, the university students formed a human chain on the campus at 1pm yesterday, demanding justice.

Ashraf Kabir, coordinator of Bhoomishontan Bangladesh, said, "This is cruel and those involved must be punished. We will take legal steps if necessary and will protest."

Dr Sultan Ahmed, professor and chairman of the Department of Microbiology and Immunology, apparently ordered the poisoning.

Contacted, he said, "There are around 50 dogs on the campus, who are out of control. These dogs have killed around 22 lambs in last three years. We wrote to Sylhet City Corporation to take action but they did nothing."

"On Monday, a dog killed two hybrid lambs and I intended to have that dog killed. But things got out of hand and three dogs ended up being killed," he said.

The professor further said, "I am not defending the poisoning, but what should be done to these dogs that had gone wild? We even tried euthanasia, but failed. I am an animal lover, and we had to take action."

OC Akther Hossain of Shahporan Police Station said, "We have not been informed of such incident. We will take legal action if anyone files complaint."

This correspondent could not contact SAU Vice-chancellor Dr Md Matiar Rahman Howlader. Assistant Registrar Md Atiqul Islam said the VC is on a tour.

Amend ridesharing guidelines

Maliha M Quadir, founder and managing director of Shohoz, said as per guideline, a vehicle owner will be allowed to provide service under one company. Drivers will be affected by this and their income will reduce, she said.

About government plan of setting highest ceiling for the number of vehicles to be enlisted with any ride-hailing company, Zulquar Quazi, country lead of Uber Bangladesh, said such quota system would not solve traffic congestion.

Because, very few new vehicles are added to ridesharing services, he said, mentioning that the number of car registration fell in 2018 compared to 2017.

The ministry, following its January

27 meeting, directed BRTA to propose the highest ceiling.

Lokman Hossain Mollah, director (engineering) of BRTA, said ridesharing is a new concept in Bangladesh and they have prepared the guideline without any baseline. "So, there may be some errors."

About the one-year registration time, he said they incorporated the section fearing that huge number of vehicles will hit the street if new vehicles are allowed.

Kazi M Aminul Islam, executive chairman of Bangladesh Investment Development Authority, said though ridesharing service was launched through difficulties, it has reached current position due to government's policy support.

"I will talk to the BRTA and ministry and hope your demands would be addressed," he said.

Hossain Zillur Rahman, former adviser to a caretaker government, said "one vehicle, one app" proposal should be revised because the logic against it is quite clear. Also, the issue of one-year limitation can be considered for review.

Zillur, convener of Safe Road and Transport Alliance, said although increase of motorcycles is good, safety concerns need to be addressed.

Officials of automobile companies, vehicle owners, users, government and police officials also spoke in the programme, moderated by Prothom Alo Associate Editor Abdul Quayum.
