

HOOKUPS &amp; BREAKUPS

Amy Schumer's SELFLESS LOVE

The I Feel Pretty actor and comedian, Amy Schumer has recently disclosed that her husband has autism spectrum disorder. She mentioned that she first noticed signs of the disease when they began dating in 2017. However, this has not affected the couple's romantic life in the least, and they are actually expecting their first child together. Amy said, "Once he was diagnosed, it dawned on me how funny it was, because all of the characteristics that make it clear that he's on the spectrum are all of the reasons that I fell madly in love with him. That's the truth."

Another bird freed from the Cage

National Treasures star, Nicolas Cage has done it again as another marriage ended in flames. He had recently submitted a marriage license application, listing girlfriend of less than a year, makeup artist, Erika Koike as his wife. However, only four days after the Vegas wedding, he decided to call it quits and filed for annulment. The actor has reportedly been under the influence of alcohol when the couple decided to get married. Sources also claimed that the wedding was totally impulsive on Cage's side. We've heard of drunken one-nightstands, but this is the first time we're hearing about a drunken 'one-night marriage'. Previously, he has been married to Patricia Arquette, Lisa Marie Presley and Alice Kim, but this was his shortest marriage by far. Let's see if he can break this record for the next marriage.

Just a single lie

The love wave seems to have hit B-town pretty hard, as 2019 started with celebs coming out about their relationships. But, the Aashiqui 2 star, Aditya Roy Kapur decided to do the opposite, by expressing his singlehood. Recently, he posted a picture on his Instagram handle, wearing a shirt flaunting the word, 'SINGLE' written over it. To make it more obvious, he captioned the photo,

'#thesinglelife'. However, the comments of celebrities like Arjun Kapoor and Parineeti Chopra suggest that he might be lying. Aditya has never been public about his personal life, but he has been linked to his co-star Shraddha Kapoor, and lately with supermodel, Diva Dhawan. However, it seems he still wants his love life shielded from the media sights by posting photos of his so-called single life.