Strikers paralyse waterways

People suffer, businesses hurt; workers postpone strike for 45 days

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

River communications across the country came to a near halt yesterday as water transport workers went on a nationwide strike that caused huge public sufferings and hampered business activities.

Operation of all types of passenger and cargo vessels remained suspended from 12:01am yesterday. Loading and unloading of goods at two seaports and major river ports were severely disrupted, dealing a blow to traders.

People of southern districts suffered immensely as only a few launches operated from the capital's Sadarghat and other major terminals in Narayanganj, Chandpur, Barishal and Khulna.

Bangladesh Water Transport Workers Federation (BWTWF) called the strike to press home their 11-point demand, including full implementation of the pay scale of 2016, stopping extortion and robbery in river transport, and providing appointment letters, identity cards and service books to transport workers.

Clear risky hills

Chattogram admin orders private, public hill owners; given a month; families demand rehabilitation

MOSTAFA YOUSUF, Chattogram

Owners of 17 hills prone to landslides were given a month-long deadline, ending on May 15, to remove 835 families and empty the hills.

The hill management committee gave the ultimatum at a meeting yesterday, apparently in a move to prevent casualties during the upcoming monsoon.

The committee, led by Chattogram divisional commissioner, in the meeting held at the Circuit House, decided that if the families were not removed from the hills within the deadline, utility services including power, gas and water to those homes would be disconnected.

According to a survey by the Chattogram district administration, more than 5,000 people are living in the hills, under the threat of landslides.

Among the 17 hills under danger, 10 of them belong to private business owners and have 531 families living in them, while 304 families live on the other seven that are owned by various government organisations, the survey found.

The government organisations that own the seven hills include Chattogram City Corporation, National Housing Authority, Bangladesh Railway, Chattogram Wasa, Forest Department as well as the Roads and Highway Department.

An announcement for relocation will also soon be made through loud-speakers for the locals and residents of the hills, the meeting decided.

Besides that, leaflets would also be distributed, circulars would be

No surprise in Tigers' WC squad

SPORTS REPORTER

It is a sweet headache at times when you cannot pick all the players who are performing, and now is such a time for the Bangladesh national selectors.

Minhajul Abedin and Habibul Bashar named a 15-man squad for the 2019 World Cup, but unfortunately quite a few performers in the ongoing Dhaka Premier League had to miss out.

It was not like any other day at the home of cricket in Mirpur's Sher-e-Bangla National Stadium, where the atmosphere was pretty tense as a huge number of journalists gathered to attend Bangladesh's ICC World Cup squad announcement, scheduled for 12.30pm yesterday.

Timely admin steps could've saved Nusrat

Finds NHRC probe

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The brutal killing of Nusrat Jahan Rafi could have been avoided had the local administration and the madrasa governing body taken necessary steps in time, National Human Rights Commission said in its probe report yesterday.

Revealing the negligence of different authorities concerned, the report also recommended bringing all those responsible to justice within the shortest possible time.

NHRC Chairman Kazi Reazul Hoque presented the report at a press conference at the commission's headquarters in the capital.

"Nusrat, in a letter, pledged to fight until death to ensure punishment of Siraj Ud Dowla. If all the culprits get due punishment, Nusrat's soul will rest in peace," he said.

AL-Mahmud Faizul Kabir, director (complaints and inquiry) of NHRC, and M Rabiul Islam, its deputy director, prepared the report upon interviewing Nusrat's family members, friends, madrasa authorities, police administration and others during a spot visit on April 12.

The probe found that the managing committee of
