HC halts CU zoology lecturer recruitment

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday issued an injunction on the process for recruitment to the post of a lecturer at the Zoology department of Chittagong University (CU).

The injunction will remain in force till disposal of an application filed by Md Amdadul Haque, an aspirant for the post who was reportedly deprived of attending the recruitment viva voce by a group of miscreants, the HC said in its order.

The court also ordered the CU vice-chancellor to dispose of the application filed by Amdadul, who sought a permission to appear for the viva voce of the department, in two weeks.

The HC bench of Justice FRM Nazmul Ahasan and Justice KM Kamrul Kader gave the order following a writ petition filed by Amdadul challenging the legality of VC's inaction to allow him to appear for the viva.

Barrister Jyotirmoy Barua, the lawyer for Amdadul, told The Daily Star that his client could not attend the viva as some students of the university abducted and beat him up when he went to the university administrative building for his viva on March 27.

Amdadul later submitted an application to the VC describing the incident and seeking a chance to face the viva.

But the VC is yet to respond to the application, Barrister Barua said, adding that now the vice chancellor has to dispose of the application within two weeks. The recruitment to the post will remain halted till disposal of the application.

Understanding cultural diversity can help prevent ethnic divisions

Speakers say at BIISS seminar

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a seminar yesterday said small ethnic groups are still lagging behind as the government is yet to take adequate measures to protect their rights and cultures.

They urged the government to introduce an ethnic minority-friendly public policy to facilitate their integration.

They made the call at a seminar on "Importance and Challenges of Protecting Heritage of Small Ethnic Groups in Promoting National Culture" organised by Bangladesh Institute of International and Strategic Studies (BIISS) at its auditorium in Eskaton.

Presenting a keynote paper, eminent historian Prof Syed Anwar Husain said many languages of small ethnic groups have already become extinct and the languages that still exist are struggling for survival.

"These languages must be included in primary education and the government should introduce a national language policy or take initiatives under the supervision of International Mother Language Institute for protecting linguistic diversity," he said.

Prof Anwar, also the Bangabandhu Chair of Bangladesh University of Professionals, said the participation of ethnic groups in state programmes should be increased and government should also recognise their various traditional festivals for fostering national solidarity.

He claimed that there is lack of communal harmony in the country as a particular group "still opposes celebration of Mangal Shobhajatra".

State Minister for Cultural Affairs KM Khalid said cultural exchange and cooperation can strengthen communal harmony between Bengalis and small ethnic groups.

He said the current government has been working to realise the CHT Peace Accord and has planned to establish cultural centres in three hill tracts districts [Khagrachari, Rangamati and Bandarban].

"Government allowance will also be provided to disadvantaged artists of ethnic groups," he added.

Uninvited, BCL activists vandalise Baishakhi event

A group of Bangladesh Chhatra League (BCL) activists of Madan Mohan College unit in Sylhet yesterday vandalised a Baishakhi programme of the college as they were not invited.

DEATH OF RAJIB Court seeks probe report by May 22

COURT CORRESPONDENT

A Dhaka court yesterday for the 11th time asked Shahbagh police to submit a probe report by May 22 in connection with a case filed over the death of Titumir College student Rajib Hossain in April 2018.

Metropolitan Magistrate Md Sarafuzzaman Ansary passed the order after Sub-inspector Edrish Ali failed to submit the report yesterday. Earlier on April 1, the SI told The Daily Star that he would complete the probe within a short time and submit the report to the court.

Rajib lost his right hand after it got stuck between two speeding buses of BRTC and Sajan Paribahan, which were trying to overtake each other in Bangla Motor on April 3 last year. After two weeks in coma, Rajib died at Dhaka Medical College Hospital on April 17.

A case was filed accusing drivers and helpers of two buses. Police arrested Khorshed, driver of Sajan Paribahan, and Wahed Ali, driver of BRTC. They are behind bars.

On May 8, 2018 the HC ordered the bus companies to pay Tk 1 crore to Rajib's family as compensation. BRTC and Sajan Paribahan challenged the order and on May 22 last year, the apex court stayed the HC order and asked it to form a committee to assess the liabilities.

The committee, led by Prof Mizanur Rahman, director of Accident Research Institute at Buet, said reckless driving was the primary cause of the accident.
