

Lively-Reynolds' THIRD BUMP!

Ryan Reynolds and Blake Lively are embracing parenthood for the third time. The Gossip Girl actor looked stunning in a yellow dress that flaunted her cute baby bump, at the premier of her husband's new film Pokemon Detective Pikachu in New York. The duo has two daughters together, four-year-old James and two-year-old Inez. In a recent interview with People Magazine, Reynolds, opened up about the challenges the super busy celebrity couple has to face to juggle family responsibilities with work commitments, "Blake and I don't do movies at the same time. If she is doing a movie in Thailand and I am doing a movie in Vancouver we would just never see each other." Reynolds further added, "We operate as a unit, and that works really well for us. The kids stay with us, and the family stays together, and that is where home is." Reynolds was previously married to Hollywood actor Scarlett Johansson between 2008 and 2011. He was also engaged to singer Alanis Morissette in 2004. This is Lively's first marriage. The lovebirds got hitched in September 2012 in Charleston, South Carolina.

Alia-Ranbir's blooming romance

Bollywood actors Alia Bhatt and Ranbir Kapoor have recently come out of the closet about their relationship. Since then on many occasions, the actors have talked about their relationship in public. In a recent interview Alia opened up about how her relationship with Ranbir is different from the other relationships she has had in the past. Alia said that Ranbir makes her feel different and that with Ranbir she finds a "deep sense of comfort." During the promotion of Kalank, Alia Bhatt accidentally called her co-actor Varun, Ranbir which sent the Alia-Ranbir fans into a frenzy of glee. The couple is currently vacationing in Europe, where they are expected to go sight-seeing and spend quality time with each other. On work front, Alia Bhatt and Ranbir Kapoor are going to team up for Aayan Mukerji's Brahmastra, which also stars Amitabh Bachchan, Nagarjuna Akkineni, Dimple Kapadia and Mouni Roy, in major roles.

Sanza Stark's private honeymoon

After tying the knot in a small, private ceremony in Las Vegas, Game of Thrones star, Sophie Turner and American singer Joe Jonas, have moved south-west to Los Angeles for an even more private honeymoon. According to reports, the newlyweds have checked into the San Vicente Bungalows in West Hollywood, known for the exclusive privacy it provides to its clients, for a romantic getaway. The club, which has entertained heavy-weight Hollywood names, including Steven Spielberg, Bradley Cooper, Leo DiCaprio, Taylor Swift, John Mayer and Jennifer Aniston, has very strict privacy rules, including a no camera policy and stars are required to cover their phone cameras with a discreet sticker, which they must use until they check-out. The duo is expected to check into one of the six romantic villas, with a private garden. Here's wishing the newlyweds a happy honeymoon and a fairytale ever after.

