

The Dhakai

Think fish. Think sweets. Think heritage loom — that's Bengali life in a nut shell. With roots firmly anchored in ancient Persia, the Jamdani found new meaning at the banks of the Shitalakshya.

Fashion has seen its fair share of turns, but the saga of this timeless textile is a never ending.

Model: Arpita
Wardrobe: Tangail Saree Kutir
Location: Pan Pacific Sonargaon
Dhaka

Verve

The sari, they say, is like a book — a sonnet, or a song. One that can make the soul dance like the peafowl with feathers spread on a gloomy day.

The colours we borrow from nature, the motifs, and how we interpret, is all that it takes to make things extraordinary.

Do not mistake her gaze for forlorn — it is just that candid moment capturing her poised aura.

Model: Arpita
Wardrobe: Tangail Saree Kutir
Location: Pan Pacific Sonargaon
Dhaka

