

Speedy Trial Act to stay five more years

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The cabinet yesterday extended the Speedy Trial Act -- that deals with serious crimes such as extortion, vandalism and tender manipulation -- for another five years, till 2024.

The cabinet approved the draft of "Law and Order Disruption (Speedy Trial) (Amendment) Bill, 2019" with Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in the chair, Cabinet Secretary M Shafiqul Alam told journalists.

A bill was passed in 2014 to amend the law and extend it to remain effective till April 7, 2019.

The Law and Order Disruption (Speedy Trial) Act was first promulgated in 2002, by the then BNP-led government for a period of two years.

Be it at malls like Ameen Shopping Centre, or budget buyers' choice like Jahur Hawkers' Market, inset, the Eid shopping frenzy is yet to catch on among port city residents.

Eid shopping yet to gain momentum in Ctg

The alleys of Jahur Hawkers' Market in the port city are never this quiet on the third week of Ramadan, particularly at night. The familiar sight of the market and the road in front teeming with shoppers is replaced by only a few strolling about even before midnight.

And it is not just the Hawkers' Market; the iconic Biponi Bitan (New Market), Reazuddin Bazar at Station Road, Ameen Centre at Lalkhan Bazar, Akhtaruzzaman Centre at Agrabad and most of the major markets in the city seem to be dozing off just after 11:30pm, in stark contrast to previous years.

With one of the biggest religious festivals of the country only 10 days away, even Teri Bazar -- the biggest wholesale market and the retailer of all types of clothes in the city -- is yet to see proper flow of traders and Eid customers.

Md Sagir, president of Biponi Bitan Merchants' Welfare Association said usually the shopping rush used to begin after tarawih prayer and continued till sehri, but this year customers are returning home before midnight.

"Many of them might have completed shopping before Ramadan sensing an escalation in price. But they wouldn't be getting the dresses of latest design this way," said an unsure Sagir.

On the other hand, Mohammad Yousuf, president of Ameen Centre Traders' Association, said the popularisation of online shopping and decentralisation of markets were the reasons for the low turnout.

"Earlier, people from outside the city also used to come here for shopping. As lot of markets have opened in the upazilas, customers now tend to shop there. Besides, many customers now prefer to order online, which has actually been a big worry for us," said Yousuf.

However, the scenario at Mimi Super Market, Afmi Plaza, Sanmar Ocean City and outlets of fashion brand Aarong were

Government should procure more crops from farmers

Speakers tell seminar

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Amid growing concerns over fallen prices of paddy and other grains at the farmers' end, speakers at a seminar yesterday called upon the government to procure at least 30 percent crops, especially paddy, directly from growers at fair prices.

The government should issue "agriculture cards" to farmers, make a price list of crops, and build sufficient storage facilities -- including cold storages -- across the country to facilitate farmers, they said.

Poribesh Bachao Andolon (Poba) and Bangladesh Resource Centre for Indigenous Knowledge (Barcik) jointly arranged the seminar on "Fair price of paddy and agricultural crop: concerns and suggestions" at the capital's Jatiya Press Club.

At present, the government procures less than 10 percent of the total rice or paddy produced in the country, claimed Poba Chairman Abu Naser Khan.

If the amount was 30 to 40 percent, the government could have had higher stock, he said, adding that the government currently has the capacity of stocking about 30 lakh metric tonnes of rice.

"With higher procurement the government could manage the market mechanism. This could also help reduce the influence of syndicates," he said.

"If we are to save Bangladesh, we must save farmers and growers," he added.

Alleging that the current National Agriculture Policy is not farmer-friendly, veteran politician Pankaj Bhattacharya said developed countries like the US and Canada provide risk and loss coverage to farmers, and similar incentives should be launched in Bangladesh.

Farmers should be able to sell as much crop as possible to avoid loss, he said, adding that knowledge about crops' quality maintenance should also be generated among farmers.

Amid the crisis faced by the farmers, some government officials and ruling party men were "staging drama" in the name of helping them, claimed Azharul Islam, vice president of Bangladesh Krishok Samiti.

They were seen busy with "photo sessions" instead of dealing with the farmers' problems, he alleged.

Farmers need to unite and wage a tough movement to overcome their problems, said Bangladesh Krishok League's central committee vice president Chhobi Biswas.

NIKO GRAFT CASE ACC allowed to argue in Khaleda's petition hearing

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday permitted the Anti-Corruption Commission (ACC) to become a party in the writ petition filed by BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia challenging the government notification that said the Niko corruption case trial against her will be held at a special court in Keraniganj Central Jail.

The HC bench of Justice Farah Mahbub and Justice Md Khairul Alam gave the permission following a prayer moved by ACC's lawyer Khurshid Alam Khan in this regard.

The bench also set today for holding hearing on the writ petition.

Advocate Khurshid told The Daily Star that the commission now has a scope to place arguments against the writ petition.

Barrister Moudud Ahmed and Advocate AJ Mohammad Ali appeared for Khaleda, while Attorney General Mahbubey Alam represented the state.

On May 13, the law ministry issued a gazette notification, saying trials of

Nawshaba charged under ICT Act

COURT CORRESPONDENT

Police have pressed charge against actress Quazi Nawshaba Ahmed in a case filed under the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Act, for allegedly spreading rumours on social media during last year's student protests for safe roads.

Shawkat Ali Sarkar, an inspector of Counter Terrorism and Transnational Crime Unit (CTTC) and also the investigation officer of the case, on May 15 submitted the charge sheet against Nawshaba to the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate's Court of Dhaka.

The news of submitting the charge sheet was published yesterday.

In the charge sheet, the investigation officer said the charge brought against Nawshaba of "creating anarchy and confuse people" was primarily proven. So, she should be brought under trial.

Nawshaba was detained from Dhaka's Uttara on August 4 last year for allegedly spreading rumours on social media regarding the student movement.

The next day she was placed on a four-day remand.

On August 10, she was again granted a two-day remand for further quizzing.

On August 23, she was granted bail considering her health condition.

After walking out on bail, she thanked Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina.

In a Facebook post, she thanked the premier for "giving her the opportunity to celebrate Eid-ul-Azha with her family, especially with her daughter Prakriti."
