

Pakistan pacer Hasan Ali (R) relaxes while taking a breather from training at Trent Bridge yesterday, but if Chris Gayle and the rest of the West Indies batsmen can fire, Ali and Co will be flattened in a very different way today.

Pak seek Champions Trophy inspiration

AFP, NOTTINGHAM

Pakistan will seek inspiration from their dramatic Champions Trophy win in England two years ago when they take the field in their opening World Cup match against a resurgent West Indies on Friday.

Pakistan have lost their past ten one-day internationals including a 5-0 whitewash by Australia and 4-0 thumping by England, and their problems were further compounded when they went down to outsiders Afghanistan by three wickets in a warm-up match.

But skipper Sarfaraz Ahmed hopes his side will draw inspiration from when they were in a similar position in

"We will seek inspiration from our Champions Trophy win because then also we were losing and then lifted ourselves at the right time to win the trophy," Sarfaraz told AFP ahead of the game in Nottingham. Pakistan had lost 4-1 in Australia before the tournament and arch-rivals India whipped them by 124 runs in the opening game of the Trophy.

But Pakistan then beat South Africa, Sri Lanka and England on their way to the final, where they thumped India by 180 runs.

"The boys are motivated and are eager to put these losses behind them and by playing in England for a month we are well prepared and you will hopefully see us doing well," said Sarfaraz, one of Pakistan's only two survivors from the 2015 World Cup, with left-handed batsman Haris Sohail the other.

Sarfaraz will also hope his spearhead Mohammad Amir -- playing his first World Cup after missing the 2011 and 2015 editions due to a spot-fixing ban -- will dismantle the West Indies top order boasting hardhitting opener Chris Gayle and the impressive Shai Hope.

"We know Amir is an impact bowler and he knows his responsibilities and I am sure he will lift his bowling and get us early wickets," said Sarfaraz of Amir, who recovered from chickenpox in time to get a World Cup call after being left out of the preliminary squad.

His form will be crucial for Pakistan -- he has taken just five wickets in 15 matches since his match-winning three wickets against India in the Champions Trophy final.

Pakistan have only won three times in 10 World Cup matches against the two-time world champions, including a thumping 150-run loss at Christchurch in Andre Russell smashed a 13-ball 42 with four sixes and then took three wickets as Pakistan were blown away.

Russell smashed 54 off 25 balls and Hope hit a century to propel the West Indies to 421 in their warm-up win against New Zealand on Tuesday.

That prompted all-rounder Carlos Brathwaite to say his team can break the 500-barrier.

"If you are asking me if we are capable of it, definitely we are," Brathwaite said. "However, in a real game you probably won't have the depth in batting at 10 and 11 that we had today. So you need to be a little real about the target."

West Indies are also returning to form after sneaking their way into the World Cup through a qualifying round in Zimbabwe last year.

They squared a one-day series against top-ranked side and pre-tournament favourites England 2-2 at home earlier this year before losing the final of a tri-series to Bangladesh in Ireland.

THE EXPERT OPINION FROM CLIVE LLOYD

Games between West Indies and Pakistan have always been close over the years and I fully expect it to be the same again at Trent Bridge for the opening match on Friday.

We played a couple of semifinals at World Cups against them at The Oval and they were great games. Pakistan have had formidable sides, with good all-rounders, solid batters and a good bowling attack.

We certainly never took them lightly when we came up against them.

Looking at the West Indies coming into the first game, if we are consistent and play to our strengths I'm sure we can give a very good account of ourselves and surprise a few people. If someone like Chris Gayle can get away often, that will set the platform for the rest of the team.

The difference with Pakistan's batting compared to the West Indies is they have a few players like Babar Azam, Imam-ul-Haq and Fakhar Zaman who score hundreds. They do not get in and get out, they tend to go on. That is what our players have to learn. We maybe have a few too many players who are happy to score 50 or 60, when instead they need to go on and get big scores.

The bigger question marks for both teams are in the bowling. The West Indies bowling hasn't been as strong in the build-up to the tournament.

And when you look at Pakistan, their spin department has been good but they have struggled for wickets at the start of innings. The fast bowlers have not really been consistent enough, and in this competition you need to get early wickets. It will be really interesting against West Indies because if they don't get any early wickets, then we could make a really big score.

Things could have taken a turn for worse for hosts

England after they had lost two quick wickets in a span of just three balls. That saw the Three Lions in a spot of bother at three down for 111 in the 20th over. However, it was skipper Eoin Morgan who came to the rescue as he strung together a valuable 106-

run fourth-wicket stand with Ben Stokes. Morgan's

57 off 60 balls was laced

three maximums.

After missing two World Cups due to a ban for spot-fixing and nearly missing out this time around due to poor form and a bout of chicken pox at the eleventh hour, Pakistan pacer Mohammad Amir is somehow fit and ready to complete his dream of playing at cricket's showpiece event. PHOTO: AFP

Kohli bowls in nets

AGENCIES, Southampton

Just a few days after Joe Root and Steve Smith rolled their arms at their respective World Cup 2019 warm-nets on Thursday at India's practice session at Southampton. Fours days later, the Men in Blue will be up against South Africa at the Ageas Bowl in their World Cup opener. Kohli had termed this World Cup to be one of the most difficult ones ever and hence, from his part, he is leaving no stone unturned to prepare for the showpiece event. Hence on Thursday, apart from honing his batting skills at the nets, Kohli rolled his arms as well.

In fact, he was seen trying a few offcutters in the nets.

May opts for new battle REUTERS, London

As the contest to replace her as prime minister gathered pace on Thursday, Theresa May opted for a different battle - watching England take on South Africa in the opening match of the 2019 Cricket World Cup.

An emotional May announced last week she would step down as Conservative Party leader on June 7 after three times failing to get her Brexit deal approved by parliament.

Free from the burden of trying to deliver Britain's exit from the European Union, a relaxed-looking May gave a speech on student funding before heading to the Oval cricket ground around two miles from her Downing Street residence.

The British leader was photographed applauding from the stands during the unannounced trip, as her would-be successors toured the television studios setting out their plans for the country.

May, who once likened her resolve to see her Brexit plan through to the determination of her cricket hero Geoffrey Boycott to get runs, has long been a lover of the sport.
