ROBBIEXS Bombshell Rant

Australian actor, Margot Robbie is an epitome of beauty and she surely makes heads turn when she enters a room. But recently she expressed her discontent on being labelled only for her beauty rather than her talent. She said, "I hate that word. I hate it so much. I feel like a brat saying that because there are worse things, but I'm not a bombshell. People who know me, if they had to sum me up in one word I don't know what that word would be, but I'm certain it would not be bombshell." The actor is currently preparing for her upcoming film Once Upon a Time in Hollywood. The film, also featuring Leonardo DiCaprio and Brad Pitt, is scheduled to be released next month.
