

PAMELA'S Lying Monster

Baywatch star, Pamela Anderson is devastated after her heart-breaking split with French soccer player Adil Rami. Recently she took to Instagram to confirm her spilt by posting a black and white photograph of her and Rami. She captioned the photo with a heart wrenching message about her relationship and suggested she has been cheated on. She wrote, "It's hard to accept. The last (more than) two years of my life have been a big lie. He lied to all. How is it possible to control 2 women's hearts and minds like this [sic]?" The couple began dating in 2017 after meeting at the Monaco Grand Prix. Anderson was previously married to Motley Crue drummer Tommy Lee, with whom she has two sons, Brandon and Dylan. She later married musician Kid Rock and American poker player Rick Salomon.

Trouble in lovers' paradise

B-town's chocolate boy, Imran Khan has been away from the media scene for a while now. But he has recently made headlines, surrounding rumours about his alleged divorce. Imran and his wife, Avantika Malik has been together way before the actor entered the entertainment industry. The high school sweethearts had dated for eight years before tying the knot in 2011. According to several reports the couple is currently taking a break from each other. Sources said, "Avantika allegedly left 24, Pali Hill, Imran's residence, a while ago with Imara, their daughter. It is being said that she is currently staying with her family." Family and friends are trying to reconcile the differences between them, so that this love story does not go downhill. Imran Khan debuted in 2008 with the film Jaane Tu Ya Jaane Na, opposite Genelia D'Souza.

Love in the NEIGHBOURHOOD

John Wick actor, Keanu Reeves is currently holding the trophy of the most likeable celebrity in Hollywood. His modest personality has won millions of hearts and he seems to be making news everywhere. Recently his fans have been going head over heels about speculations of a budding romance between him and actor Angelina Jolie. The rumours started buzzing around when Jolie moved to Los Angeles in a new neighbourhood and just by chance, Keanu's mother Patricia already lived there, and we already know that the Matrix actor often visits his mother. According to an international tabloid, Reeves is the first man Jolie is excited about meeting since she met her former husband Brad Pitt in 2004. The tabloids even stated, "Reeves has met Angelina's kids and gets along well with them. And even Reeves' mom is considering a relationship between them."

However, Reeves' spokesperson denied all the speculations, but fans are still eagerly waiting to get a confirmation from the actors.

