

NUDE IT IS

While there's no better colour than your original skin, some may argue otherwise. However, ask experts and they'd tell you right away how big a fan they are of the bare and the unembellished. Nudes can be paired with everything, especially the gorgeous outfits with a lot of add-ons. But certainly, nudes are tricky to master and can counterattack if not dealt with properly. That means you can look unpleasant and ailing, even with tons of makeup on. To prevent such an awkward situation, put on the best blusher that matches your complexion after you have pinched it a little, and the lipstick should also complement your skin tone. Eye shadows are not a must, but can easily be put on if you think the colour suits your clothes.

Whatever it is, makeup or not, let the mirror speak for itself again, but this time, only in your favour. Because you know very well that there is nobody on the block who is better looking than yourself.

Let that witch go to hell forever.
