

then run back with the sponge in their hands to their team and allow the next player to do the same until the empty bucket is filled till the marked level. Whichever team fills up the empty bucket the fastest wins.

WATER BALLOON DODGEBALL

Draw a line, splitting the ground into two sides, with balloons filled with water in the middle. Each team must then stand on either side of the line.

The rules to the game are the same as normal dodgeball. If one team member can hit the opposition team's player with a balloon (needs to break) then that player is out. If the balloon does not break, then the opposition team member can pick it up and keep playing but if the balloon is caught then the opposition member can bring back a player that was hit. If the balloon breaks while trying to catch it, then the player who tried to do so is out. The team with the last player standing wins.

WATER GUN TAG

Like laser tag, split into two teams and try to hit as many members of the opposition team as possible. Whichever team is left with the driest players win.

LIQUID LIMBO

Set up the same way it is done for a normal limbo dance.

Players must move under a pole that is slowly lowered from chest level without falling or dislodging the pole. Two people holding water guns are stationed on opposite sides of the pole, squirting water onto the player to get him/her to fail.

CUP OF CHANCE

Line up cups and mix and match between which ones you wish to fill half way or full. Players must then take turns blindfolded, choosing a cup that must be dumped onto their heads. If there is water in the cup, then they are out and if there is not then they continue on to the next round. Play this game in rounds, reducing the number of cups. Last person standing dry wins.
