

Ed's Fantasy Comes True

Singer Ed Sheeran turned his boyhood dreams into a reality, by making a song with rappers Eminem and 50 Cent. The song, which is currently on top of the charts is called Remember the Name. It was made for Ed's new album, No. 6 Collaborations Project. Ed Sheeran, who happens to be a lifelong fan of both Eminem and 50 Cent, paid homage to both rappers in the song, with the line, "Give me a song with Eminem and 50 Cent in the club." Eminem and 50 Cent were not the only icons brought in for the song; the legendary duo of Max Martin and Shellback came in to produce this song. Even though this is the first time all three of them have worked together, Ed had worked with Eminem once before, on Eminem's song River, and Eminem and 50 Cent have worked together on several occasions.
