

HOOKUPS & BREAKUPS

Tampering Wedding

Bollywood love birds and A-list actors Ranbir Kapoor and Alia Bhatt have been making their fans wait too long for a grand wedding. Recently, an overly enthusiastic fan created an image, where Alia and Ranbir can be seen exchanging garlands in their wedding attires. The photo was tampered from a still shot of a recent bridal commercial, featuring Alia. Ever since the image went viral, fans have been even more eager to know when the couple will actually announce their wedding date. The duo has been together for over a year now, and since their first public appearance at Sonam Kapoor's wedding, the two have been spotted together on several occasions.

MOORE'S cheating revelation

With a month ahead of hitting the shelves, actor Demi Moore's memoir, Inside Out has quite a few shocking revelations in it. Recently, in an interview with The New York Times, the Ghost actor talked about the struggles she had to face in her life. During her marriage with actor Ashton Kutcher, she became pregnant. Unfortunately, six months into the pregnancy, her drinking problem lead to a miscarriage. She even planned on naming the child Chaplin Ray. Moore further revealed that she decided to call it quits in 2011, when she learned that Kutcher had cheated on her with two other women. The couple began dating in 2003, and tied the knot in 2005. After their divorce, Ashton Kutcher married his former That '70s Show co-star, Mila Kunis in 2015.

GIGI'S Supportive Lover

Supermodel Gigi Hadid seems to have given away her love rose to The Bachelorette contestant, Tyler Cameron. His good looks and charming personality were quite evident on the show. It has been reported that Tyler and Gigi first started to follow each other on Instagram, shortly before the show's season finale, in July. Ever since then, the duo has been spotted spending a lot of time together, raising eyebrows on their alleged love-affair. Recently, Tyler, whom fans have dubbed a supportive boyfriend, was seen at Tommy Hilfiger's Tommy X Zendaya show at the Apollo Theatre, where Gigi was present as the VIP guest. Even though the couple did not pose together at the red carpet, Tyler's presence was a way of showing care and support for Gigi.

