Anjan's way of inviting Durga

The largest festivity of this season is just around the corner, and Anjan's is all set with a delightful line to suit the season. Colourful and gorgeous clothes are the rage and Anjan's latest collection is here to set the score with clothes in various patterns and designs.

Saris in eye catching embellishments, shalwar kameez, fatua, kurta, and tops are all part of the collection. The younger family members too can have their pick from a colourful array. Considering comfort, cotton, linen, georgette, silk, and endi cotton have been used extensively.

Accessories and upholstery are also being offered.

The collection is available at all Anjan's outlets, as well as their website: www.anjans.com.

Rang Bangladesh and their ode to Autumn

Always ready to offer something new for every season, Rang Bangladesh has just released their Puja Collection 2019.

Keeping the weather and activities in mind, comfortable fabrics have been used extensively, including taant, voile, linen, endi-cotton, half-silk, etc. The colours used most prominently are white, off-white, red, maroon, royal blue, magenta, and yellow. Screen prints, block prints, hand and machine embroidery, and patchwork are the highlight of this new line.

Regular favourites like sari, three-pieces, single kurtis, skirt-tops, unstitched dresses, panjabis, pyjamas, T-shirts, fatuas, dhoti, etc. are also available. The ever-popular matching sets for couples and families are also part of it. Jewellery, purses, wallets, bedcovers, tablemats, show pieces, and other home décor and gift items are also available.

Rang Bangladesh's sister concerns, West Rang for the youth, Shroddhanjoli for the elderly, and Rang Junior for the children, too are celebrating the spirit of the season with their own exclusive offers.

These special offers are now available at all their outlets spread across the country.
