exact position in front of the first bowl and resumed business as usual.

I was flabbergasted — not just because I was outfoxed by someone like that, but also because he made me feel naïve. I quickly gathered my wits and laughed hard, surely he is the smarter one, and I was happy for him. He needs to be smart and cocky in order to survive in his world on the streets. Just like I need to be brash in order to survive in mine.

Come to think of it, even in our glitzy and glamorous world, only the cockiest survive, with their intellect truly shining when the need arises to swindle someone, letting them pass off bad ideas to their bosses, business partners, or just society at large, until those schemes start paying off for them.

Anyway, I have strayed far. All I am trying to say is that perhaps we retire the phrase “Survival of the fittest” and usher in “Survival of the craftiest.” I have said it before, and this latest incident just cements that belief.

pocket. “What kind of a materialistic person am I?” I thought, ashamed of myself.

However, my pessimism lasted for but a wee moment, when I saw, to my utter surprise, how that boy ever so casually rubbed off the smirk off his face, pulled the bowl up, emptied its contents into another duplicate blue plastic bowl that was undetectably lying below the first one. And with a poker face, he took that

The Chocolate Room opens in Dhaka

Indulging sweet gluttony for chocoholics, The Chocolate Room launched its flagship café in Gulshan 1's Abacus Restaurant on Thursday, 3 October, 2019. Located right on the ground floor of the same building, the chocolatier caters exclusively to chocolate connoisseurs all over the city and gives them an escape into the sinful delight that is chocolate!

An international franchise with 300+ cafes around the globe, Dhaka's very own branch was inaugurated by famed Bollywood film actress Warina Hussain. Upon her association with chocolate, Hussain shared, “Ever since I started modelling, the main thing was to lose weight and look good. At times, it gets in your head and you start judging yourself; it's not an easy task. Since I love chocolate, I wanted to promote something that I love, for a change. Out of all the things I have tasted here at The Chocolate Room, I already have my favourite, the chocolate bomb!”

Lingamallu Chaitanya Kumar, Co-founder and CMD, was next to share his thoughts on the launch. “We come into the category of chocolate café and we pride ourselves on being one of the best places for chocolate lovers in Bangladesh,” he said.

Sameer Hossain, Managing Director of The Chocolate Room, and Yaju Vaghela, Director of The Chocolate Room International PTY LTD, were other attendees gracing the event. Also at the ceremony was Tahsin Karina, host for the evening.

Hailing all the way from Australia, The Chocolate Room began in 2006 to only become a global franchise. Their pride and joy is the chocolate cuddle cup, which is hot chocolate cup fit to cradle in your palms of your hands; an absolute winter delight! More on the menu are chocolate delicacies like brownies, sundaes and even fusion food like burgers and sandwiches.

The Chocolate Room's latest café in Bangladesh marks the opening of the brand's 311th store. The Dhaka chapter offers various flavours of Italian Hot Chocolate, Chocolate Fondues, Chocolate Melting Pots and a variety of chocolate cakes, waffles and Belgian chocolates among others. It has a seating capacity of approximately 72 people.

Chocolate delights rarely ever disappoints. With the same promise, The Chocolate Room is the haven Dhaka has been craving for, and its these promises that is sure to keep you coming for more!
