

Profit-mongers to face stern action

Warns Ctg DC at meeting with onion traders

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Ctg

Stern actions will be taken against traders if they are found selling onion at exorbitant prices and making excessive profit, warned Deputy Commissioner (DC) of Chattogram Mohammad Ilias Hossain yesterday.

While addressing a views-exchange meeting with onion traders on controlling prices of the vegetable, the DC urged them to keep the price at reasonable stage.

Warehouse owners and commission agents of Khatunganj wholesale hub as well as leaders of trade associations were present at the meeting, held at the conference room of Chattogram district administration.

In his speech, the DC said, “We are not against traders. But when people suffer, we are ready to take action. We don’t want you to make excessive profit and also don’t want to disturb the trade.”

He made it mandatory for all wholesalers and retailers to display price charts at their outlets.

The DC directed depot owners and commission agents to keep the names and phone numbers of importers as well as receipts of their purchase. The administration or the ministry will directly contact the importers if necessary, he informed.

He warned of punitive actions if any trader is found engaged in selling onion through illegal means.

Traders at the meeting urged the DC to take steps for allowing onion-loaded trucks entering the city at daytime for smooth supply of the good.

The DC assured them of taking steps in this regard. He mentioned that fewer number of such trucks are arriving at Khatunganj market these days.

He suspected that some unscrupulous traders may have been preventing those trucks from coming to Khatunganj, sensing less profit due to recent mobile court drives.

“We are looking into the matter,” he added.

DC Hossain informed that according to the commerce ministry’s list, they found names of eight Chattogram-based onion importers but none of them showed up in yesterday’s meeting even after they were informed. He said the administration will inquire about it.

Former director of Chittagong Chamber of Commerce and Industry Mahfujul Hoque Shah; Khatunganj Trade and Industries Association general secretary Syed Sagir Ahmad; Hamidullah Mia Market Traders Association gener al secretary Mohammad Idris and Chaktai-Khatunganj Aratdar Samity president Jahangir Alam spoke at the meeting, among others.

Former Ducusu leaders yesterday expressed strong opposition against a ban on student politics, while speaking at a human chain protesting the murder of Buet student Abrar Fahad. The photo was taken in front of Jatiya Press Club in Dhaka.

The incident occurred in 2017 but Rubaiyat Sayem, 26, of port city’s Bakalia area filed the case with the court of Metropolitan Magistrate Shafi Uddin -- accusing the four, including two policemen.

The accused are: Shahana Yalin Sumi, 26; her elder brother Kamrul Islam; the then Panchlaish OC Mohiuddin Mahmud; and Sub-inspector (SI) Abu Taleb of the same police station, said plaintiff’s lawyer

Advocate Nazmul Alam.

“After filing the case, the court ordered Detective Branch (DB) of CMP to investigate into the case and submit the report before the court,” said Advocate Nazmul.

Advocate Nazmul said Sayem and the accused Sumi were BBA students of Premier University (PU) and the duo were in a relationship in 2017, but Sumi’s brother opposed the relationship.

Both Sayem and Sumi’s families met several times over the issue, and Sumi’s brother Kamrul threatened to have Sayem sent to jail if he did not leave her, added the lawyer.

The lawyer added that failing to stop Sayem, Kamrul set up a trap for him and later handed him over “After detaining him, RAB handed over Sayem to Panchlaish Police Station. Despite having no specific allegation against Sayem, Panchlaish police held him overnight and on the following day, Sayem was brought in front of Bodna Shah Mazar area of Prabartak where police staged a sexual harassment drama with the help of Sumi and his brother,” said the lawyer.

According to the case statement, the mobile court run by Executive Magistrate Abdus Samad sentenced Sayem to three months’ jail over the alleged sexual harassment and sent him to Chattogram jail on that day.
