

RAKHINE MAHILA MARKET

Open ground remains water-logged half the year

The 3-acre field remains inundated due to poor drainage system

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Patuakhali

Like previous year, the playground in front of Rakhine Mahila Market in Patuakhali's Kalapara upazila has gone under rainwater impeding commercial and cultural activities in the area.

The three-acre field remains inundated from May to October due to poor drainage system, said traders, who run shops at the market frequented by tourists.

One shop owner, Umeng Uchu, said the nuisance occurred last year after some shops were set up on the edge of the field.

Those shops blocked the old drain lines resulting into waterlogging, she said. "Customers get irritated as their dresses get dirty while shopping here," said the lady.

While talking to this correspondent earlier this month, Abu Bakar Siddique, a tourist from Gazipur, said, "I visited Kuakata in the dry season last year. The field looked great then but now all I can see is knee-deep stagnant water."

Abul Kalam, another tourist from Barishal, said, "People come to Kuakata to buy goodies from the Rakhine Market. It is difficult to shop when the field is flooded," he said urging the authorities concerned to take due steps without a delay.

Kuakata municipality had built a stage on the east side of the field for holding public meetings and cultural programmes. Local cultural organisations and political parties used it on occasions like Victory Day and Independence Day.

"The stage is no longer in use as the field remains inundated for six months. No cultural activity could be held in about last two years due to reoccurring waterlogging," said Amir Hossain, a leader of a local cultural organisation.

Moreover, youths are not being able to play on the field.

The upazila administration had built two helpads on the field for easy landing of political leaders. Those have also been submerged by rainwater.

Kuakata Municipality Mayor Abdul Berek Mollah said a pipeline was temporarily built last year to remove the water but some Rakhine people broke it.

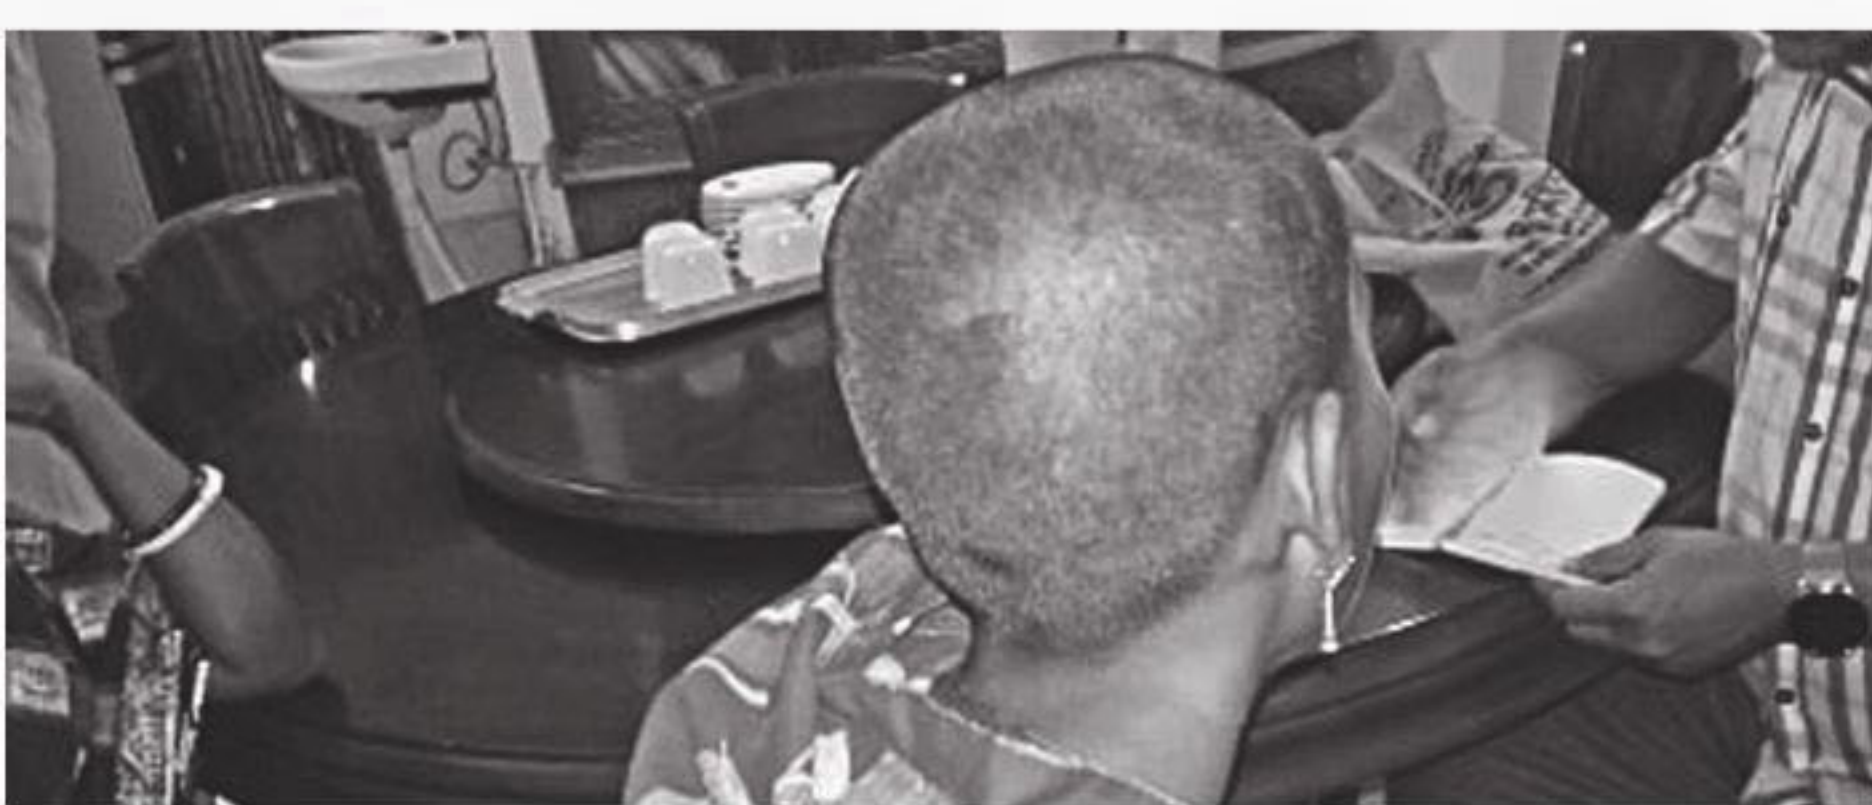

"They broke it because it touched parts of their land and homes. They anticipated that it was a permanent thing," said the mayor.

"In coming dry season, we will dump sand on the field and build a permanent drainage system. We will also renovate the stage," he added.

Pregnant housewife tortured, shaved for dowry

Accused husband, mother-in-law arrested

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Patuakhali

A pregnant housewife became victim of brutal torture by her dowry-greedy husband in Baufal upazila of Patuakhali on Tuesday.

The victim Priyanka Rani, 20, was able to flee from confinement at her in-laws' house in Kalaiya launch terminal area of Baufal upazila and reach her father's house the next day.

Police arrested the victim's husband Tapos Chandra Mondol, 25, and his mother Laksmi Rani, 45, on Wednesday night.

Priyanka said her husband is a drug addict and he often asked her to bring money from her father's house.

"On Tuesday he asked me to bring Tk 50,000 from my father. As I refused, he physically tortured me. At one stage he cut my hair with a boti (a sharp tool used in kitchen). Then he called a man from the nearby saloon and got my head shaved. "Afterwards, they confined me to my room. On Wednesday evening, I managed to flee from my in-laws' house and informed my father," said the victim, in tears.

Priyanka's father Shushil Chandra Karmakar said, "During marriage of my daughter five years ago, I gave her husband Tapos three tolas of gold along with cash money but he continued pressing for more. I demand justice for the brutal torture on my daughter."

Priyanka filed a case accusing her husband Tapos, father-in-law Porimol Mondol, mother-in-law Laksmi Rani and sister-in-law (husband's sister) Bithee Rani with Baufal Police Station on Wednesday night.

"Police arrested Tapos and Laksmi Rani from their house on Wednesday night. They were produced before Patuakhali Senior Judicial Magistrate's Court today [Thursday] noon and the court sent them to jail," said Md Mostafizur Rahman, OC of Baufal Police Station.

"Investigation is on and we are trying our best to arrest the other accused," he said.
