Venturini By You Design Your Own Shoe

Apex has launched a bespoke line of shoes, Venturini By You, exclusively for those who prefer to have things that have a reflection of their distinctive personality. Now, customers can pick and choose every part of their shoe — fit, style, sole, colour, lining, insole, and embellishments; the customisation options are endless.

Firstly, customers can choose the type of fit, followed by the style of shoe they wish to start with — lace up, loafer, or otherwise. From regular TPR, to high-quality and durable tunit, to exclusive handmade leather soles, we have it all. That too, in variable colour options!

Upper leather options in cow aniline, or ecological leather, in an eccentric colour selection that includes ocean blue, olive, and burgundy, apart from the more earthy tones of tan, coffee, cognac, and the wardrobe-staple black are available.

For utmost comfort on the inside, soft, smooth cow-lining in an eclectic colour range of orange, blue, or red is offered, along with special insoles with features that contain arch support, gel pad for maximising comfort, double layered SBR foam for additional cushioning, all covered in leather to keep your feet dry and clean. To add a final flourish, customers can customise laces, lace tips, branded upper trims and eyelets from a wide selection.

A 'Venturini By You' bespoke shoe is meticulously stitched, hammered and polished to suit the owner's individualistic taste. Finally, if the customer wishes, they can personalise it further — by adding their signature or, monogram on the shoe.

With a discernible laser engraved design, this elegantly shaped classic dress shoe, made with high quality natural semi-chrome crust upper leather, and breathable cow-lining, makes this "the king of its kind." Real Argentinian leather outsole, in addition to Italian finishing chemical, takes the design quotient up a notch.

An updated version of a classic dress shoe – the wholecut Oxford – is a semi-casual brogue made with high quality semi-chrome cow crust leather, and breathable cow-lining, giving it "a different attitude with class." In addition, the Italian last and original Argentinian leather sole gives this shoe a highly bespoke look.

The loafer is a moccasin-inspired shoe that is known for its slip-on style. This classic loafer, with hand-stitched detailing, gives this lace-less design a timeless appeal and style. It's made with high quality semi-chrome cow crust upper leather, and breathable cow-lining, and Argentinian leather outsole, treated with Italian finishing chemicals.

This bold and timeless single monk shoe, made with high quality natural semi-chrome cow crust, upper leather, and breathable cow-lining, makes it "unique & stylish." With the addition of decorative brogueing, and Argentinian leather made outsole, treated with world class Italian finishing chemical – this classic alternative to laced dress shoes adds a certain panache to any outfit.

This not-so-typical double monk shoe is a "unique work of art," blending the double monk design on a round-toe loafer. Real Argentinian leather made outsole, in addition to the Italian finishing chemical, makes this style a focal point of any ensemble.

The sophisticated brogue is a footwear staple for the contemporary gent. The traditional perforations on the shoe's upper portion — the brogueing — gives the shoe a distinctive character that other shoe styles lack. The real Argentinian leather outsole, in addition, gives the shoe a touch of aristocracy.
