NO LAND'S MAN

Why you should be excited

SADI MOHAMMAD SHAHNEWAZ

It is, indeed telling when a film is awarded even before it's pre-production stages. In 2014, No Land's Man was awarded the Script Development fund in the Motion Picture Association of America and Asia Pacific Screen Awards, while being a part of the Asian Project Market at Busan. The international film was chosen as the best project in India's Film Bazaar the same year. However, the majority of hype surrounding the film was created this year, when internationally acclaimed actor Nawazuddin Siddiqui was set to star in it. Here is why you should be excited about

Mostofa Sarwar Farooki and Nawazuddin Siddiqui

the Mostofa Sarwar Farooki directorial. NAWAZUDDIN SIDDIQUI'S COMMANDING PRESENCE
Today, Nawazuddin Siddiqui's name is synonymous with intriguing projects, many of which are acclaimed worldwide. After a complete career transformation with Gangs of Wasseypur in 2012, he captured Bollywood as an intense actor, adaptable in any role given to him. With the recent success of the Netflix original, Sacred Games, watching Nawazuddin on the big screen is no less than a mercurial experience. Siddiqui is also one of the producers of the project, alongside award-winning US producer Shrihari

MOSTOFA SARWAR FAROOKI'S RECENT TRACK RECORD
Arguably one of the most prolific directors that Bangladesh has ever produced, Mostofa Sarwar Farooki is no stranger to working with big names. In Doob: No Bed of Roses, he worked with Irrfan Khan, one of the most respected actors in the world. The unreleased Saturday Afternoon is also picking up acclaims from film festivals around the world. If his recent projects are anything to go by, No Land's Man should be nothing short of a spectacle.
A COMPELLING BANGLADESHI PRESENCE
Singer-turned-actor Tahsan Khan's inclusion in No Land's Man, a surprising one, drew a lot of attention to the film. Tahsan, who recently completed 100 television projects, has evolved into a solid and believable actor. Nusrat Imrose Tisha, one of the most renowned names in Bangladeshi film and television, makes her debut as a producer with this film. Her recent film, Iti Tomari Dhaka, is being touted as one of the most ambitious projects in Bangladeshi film history. With two beloved Bangladeshi actors attached to the project, the expectations are high.

MEGAN MITCHELL'S DEBUT
Australian theatre-based actor Megan Mitchell's debut in the film will be a high profile one, given the names involved in the project. It is definitely a bonus to have a sense of intrigue, to see how the promising actor copes up.

Hiroshi Uotani's 'From the Fields' at Dhaka Gallery

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT DESK

A week-long solo painting exhibition, From the Fields, by eminent Japanese artist Hiroshi Uotani, is underway at Dhaka Gallery in Banani. It was inaugurated on November 15.
Hiroshi was born and brought up in a small island surrounded by the ocean. Through the exhibition, he looks back on time in the island, where he played in the lush green fields and enjoyed looking at the fish in the ocean. Since childhood, Hiroshi, an avid artist, was fond of drawing sharks.

He enjoys portraying nature in his paintings, which have storytelling elements to them. The exhibition was inaugurated by Naoki Ito, the Ambassador of Japan to the People's Republic of Bangladesh. Dr Mohammad Iqbal, the curator of the show, Hiroshi Uotani and Mustapha Khalid Palash, the founder of Dhaka Gallery, addressed the audience at the inauguration.

The exhibition includes a display of 27 oil paintings on canvas of different sizes. It will remain open to all from 3 pm to 8 pm till tomorrow.
