Brief description of the assignment	Needs assessment for medical devices is a complex process, which incorporates a number of variables, that provides decision-makers with the information necessary to prioritize and select appropriate medical devices at national, regional or hospital level. No need assessment regarding medical devices was previously done in Bangladesh. However, the existing gap can be identified by collecting baseline information and comparing it to a desired standard. Determining how to best use the resources available to fill that gap will lead to a prioritization of activities that can eventually lead to a more efficient provision of health services and better quality of care. The general approach in performing this need assessment is to examine what is available at the upazila and below level facilities in Bangladesh, and to compare it with what should be available, considering the particular demand of the population of catchment area and to find out the unnecessary part of expenditure as well as the cost recovery options.
