Daycare approach

Dr Nur Haque Alam, senior scientist (nutrition and clinical services division) at icddr,b presented the result of the effectiveness trial of daycare approach.

"A smaller investment in upgrading day care facilities through development of trained human resources and procurement of supporting equipment [pulse oximeter for oxygen therapy and so on could provide an effective alternative to hospital facilities," Dr Nur said in his presentation.

In her presentation on economic evaluation of the approach, Dr Marufa Sultana, assistant scientist at icddr,b, showed that average cost per patient is USD186.33 in hospital management of severe pneumonia while it is only USD 94.96, almost half, in daycare approach. In another presentation, Dr Halida Hanum Akhter, professor at Johns Hopkins University in USA, highlighted that the daycare approach is feasible in the existing healthcare system with some changes. In the question-answer session, speakers discussed the readiness of the healthcare facilities, especially of the union healthcare centres or community clinics, to adopt daycare services. "Result of the study is convincing. Without government initiative, it would be tough to scale it up for the national level. There are challenges in readiness also," said Dr Daniel Frey, member of Unicef foundation board of Sweden, said in his speech.

Speaking as special guest, Prof Abul Kalam Azad, director general of the Directorate General of Health Services, said, "The problem with the union health centres is whether they are ready or not. Here, upazila health complexes, district and the tertiary-level hospitals could be good options to implement the daycare approach." Presided over by Syed Monjurul Islam, acting executive director of icddr,b; Prof Marcel Tanner of Swiss Academy of Sciences; Prof Tahmeed Ahmed, senior director (nutrition and clinical services division) at icddr,b; and Dr Khaleda Islam, former director (primary health care) at DGHS, spoke at the event, among others.

This group usually hacks their targets to death, but they also carry firearms for successful escape, Rab said. Masum, an electrician from Cumilla district, got involved in militancy through social media three years ago.

He used to collect funds for the group, the law enforcement agency said. Madrasa student Abu Bakar also got involved with the outfit through the internet two years ago. He used to communicate with others through different encrypted apps. Rakibul joined the group via online through a Satkhirabased leader while Roman was once a member of Harkatul-Jihad al-Islam Bangladesh and joined Ansar al Islam three years ago, it added.

CU Chhatra League calls strike on campus

CU CORRESPONDENT

2nd Edition

A faction of Bangladesh Chhatra League (BCL) of Chittagong University (CU) called an indefinite strike and vandalised police vans on the campus last night. This followed three days of infighting between two rival groups of BCL's university unit.

The campus has seen unrest for the last three days since the two groups began clashing in phases, university sources said. At least 10 BCL men were injured in clashes that took place on November 28 and 29.

President of CU unit BCL, Rejaul Haque Rubel, called the strike claiming that a rival BCL group -- headed by former deputy office secretary Mizanur Rahman Bipul -- stabbed two of his followers at 11 Mile area in Hathazari upazila yesterday. Bipul has denied the allegations. Rubel called the strike under the banner of Taposh Sriti Sangshad pushing for a three-point demand -- removal of CU student adviser Prof

Siraz-ud-Doulah, punishment of the perpetrators of the attacks on his activists and arrest of the accused in Taposh murder case. BCL men also vandalised four police vans and a police outpost.

CU Proctor Prof Monirul Hasan said stern action would be taken against students who have vandalised the police vans. Anyone who tries to create unrest on the campus will not be spared, he added. Additional Superintendent of Chattogram Metropolitan Police (North) Moshiuddoula Reza said they raided Shah Jalal, Shah Amanat Shaheed Abdur Rab and Shaheed Suhrawardy halls on Saturday night. Some locally-made weapons and a few sacks of brickbats were recovered during the raids, he added.

Confirming the raid, Prof Monirul said none was arrested as the rooms' occupants were not present during the drive.

STAR REPORT

Four people were killed in road accidents across three districts in the last two days, report our correspondents and agencies.

In Chattogram, Abdul Quader Kayser,

UP member of Shovondandi, was killed in a road accident in Bailtali area on Patiya bypass road yesterday, when a speeding bus hit his motorbike around 3pm, said police. Agitated locals blocked the road for an hour after the incident.

In Dinajpur, seven-year-old Mohna Begum was killed after a speeding motorcycle hit her in Khansama upazila yesterday. Police said Mohna was on her way to class when the motorcycle hit her. She succumbed to the injuries an hour later. In Madaripur, a man was killed and four were injured in a road accident at Khoajpur on Madaripur-Shariatpur highway yesterday. The deceased was identified as Abdul Hai Munshi (55), a local leader of Workers' Party. The accident occurred when a truck collided head-on with an easy-bike, leaving all passengers injured. The wounded were rushed to Madaripur Sadar Hospital where doctors declared Hai dead. In Bandarban, Rajon (27) was killed and two were injured when a local-made vehicle overturned on Fashiakhali Road in Lama upazila on Saturday afternoon, police said

The mobile court led by Rajuk Executive Magistrate Jesmin Aktar conducted the drive at the building of the ASK office on November 14 and demolished a part of its garage that was constructed flouting the Rajuk-approved plan.

Refuting the allegations, Jesmin Aktar said they took action according to Rajuk law.

Both Dhaka mayors -- Atiqul Islam (DNCC) and Sayeed Khokon (DSCC), Narayanganj city mayor Selina Hayat Ivy, Gazipur mayor Md Jahangir Alam and Narayanganj-2 lawmaker Nazrul Islam Babu, among others, were present at the meeting.

assistant deputy commissioner of DMP's serious crimes investigation division, who led the drives. DB sources said Ebrahim took the devices from Nahid and Ruhul, and supplied those to applicants with whom they struck deals. Ruhul and Nahid told police that they got the devices from Azad. Later, police raided Azad's house in Kafrul on Saturday and arrested him, and seized a diary where applicants' names, roll numbers and amount of money were written. Police arrested Titu and Saimon from a house in Lalbagh.

In primary interrogation, Saimon said he used to solve the question papers of various recruitment tests of government and private jobs and entrance tests of different public universities, said police. In the last four to five years, the organised gang struck deals with government job aspirants and public university admission seekers in exchange for hefty sums and helped many cheat their way into universities and government offices, investigators said. Each candidate used to pay the gang between Tk 5 lakh and 15 lakh, they added.

Police said the miscreants used to contact job aspirants through different messaging apps.

After a few minutes into the test, questions were leaked through mobile phone to the gang members outside, where they set up a one-stop problem-solving centre to crack all questions. Then the examinee was told the answers through the device, they added.

13.	Brief description of the assignment	Dengue is endemic to Bangladesh and Dhaka, the capital city, is the most at-risk area for dengue infections. The global cost of dengue illness was US$ 8.9 billion in 2013. The cost of disease per episode can vary depending on the country, financial structure of the healthcare system and other different factors. The cost per episode is comparatively higher in low-income countries ($ 1146) than in high-income countries (US$ 56), suggesting that country and region-specific cost information is important to develop and assign national and regional specific policy, resource allocation and planning for intervention. The epidemiological and economic burden of illness both for dengue from societal perspective (i.e., provider perspective, household perspective and health system) is scarce in Bangladesh. Dhaka city's lifestyle and everyday costs and health care seeking practices are different than in other parts of the country Therefore, specific epidemiological and economic burden data from Dhaka city is essential as this is one of the hotspots and requires urgent attention for control of
