Dhaka exploring all avenues for Rohingya repatriation

Masud Bin Momen says

Bangladesh yesterday said it is exploring all available avenues through bilateral and international mechanisms to send back Rohingyas safely to their place of origin in Rakhine state. An active trilateral effort with China and Myanmar is in place.

"We want to work in all areas with the same pace," secretary (Asia and Pacific) at Ministry of Foreign Affairs Masud Bin Momen told reporters at state guesthouse Meghna after the second Foreign Office Consultation (FOC) with the Philippines.

Secretary Momen said Bangladesh, China and Myanmar are moving ahead trilaterally as China is working as a sort of guarantor to send back Rohingyas through bilateral mechanisms.

Responding to a question, he said the issue of "accountability and justice" is a matter of high moral ground as genocidal acts took place; and the international community has responsibility to address the issue.

On November 14, pre-trial Chamber III of the International Criminal Court authorised the prosecutor to proceed with an investigation for the alleged crimes committed against Rohingyas in Myanmar.

ICC Prosecutor Fatou Bensouda said her investigation will seek to uncover the truth. "My office will now focus on ensuring the success of its independent and impartial investigation.'

Meanwhile, Suu Kyi is among several top Myanmar officials named in a case filed in Argentina for crimes against Rohingya Muslims.

On November 11, filed a case at the United Nations' highest court, accusing Myanmar of 'genocide" in its campaign against its Rohingya Muslim minority.

Gambia, which filed the case on behalf of the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC), asked the International Court of Justice (ICJ) to urgently order measures "to stop Myanmar's genocidal conduct immediately."

Secretary Momen said they see this development as a "confidence building measure" for Rohingyas.

"If some sort of justice is not ensured, these traumatised people will not get back the confidence and courage to go back [to their place of origin in Rakhine]," he said.

Secretary Momen said so far they are not seeing any visible results on what Myanmar claimed to be doing.

Earlier at the FOC, Bangladesh side sought the Philippines' support on the Rohingya repatriation issue.

The Bangladesh side stressed that both the Philippines and Myanmar are Asean members whose core objective is to attain regional security and stability. The Filipino side was appreciative of Bangladesh's gesture to the displaced people, and assured Bangladesh of conveying its concerns to their capital and the Asean process. Bangladesh is hosting over 1.1 million Rohingyas, most of whom arrived in the country since August 25, 2017 amid a military crackdown.

Not a single Rohingya was repatriated over the last two years due to Myanmar's "failure" to build confidence among Rohingyas and lack of conducive environment in Rakhine state, officials here said.

Bangladesh has so far handed over names of more than one lakh Rohingyas to Myanmar authorities for verification and subsequently expediting their repatriation efforts, but Myanmar is yet to take back its nationals from Bangladesh, according to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs here before the court is "fraudulence", the HC bench commented.

The court ordered the Department of Environment (DoF) to submit a report by December 8 on whether there are any industrial operations near Buriganga in Dhaka without having valid environmental clearance certificate, which are dumping wastes into the river.

Earlier on Monday, the DoE submitted a report before the HC through its lawyer Amatul Karim, stating that it shut down 18 factories by the Buriganga as they were operating without environmental clearance.

During yesterday's hearing, Human Rights and Peace for Bangladesh lawyer Advocate Manzill Murshid told the HC that the court has given several directives to the authorities concerned -- particularly Dhaka Wasa -- to take effective steps to clean and save Buriganga, but they ignored the directives. He said it is high time that the court takes a hard line so that the directives are implemented properly.

Advocate Manzill Murshid prayed to the HC to issue a contempt of court rule against the Wasa MD for not complying with the orders and making an untrue statement. In response, the HC bench said issuing the contempt of court rule has become a toothless phenomenon. Following the same writ petition, the HC on June 1, 2011, directed the government to seal off all sewerage lines to the Buriganga within the next year.

The alliance also warned the government that it will be held responsible for the emerging situation in the country if Khaleda is not given bail and if she is subjected to

On November 28, the Appellate Division deferred the hearing on Khaleda's bail petition in the Zia Charitable Trust graft case till December 5.

The court also asked Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University to place Khaleda's health reports before it by December 5. Asked about the alliance leaders' plan to meet Khaleda, Jatiya Samajtantrik Dal President ASM Abdur Rob said the home minister agreed in principle to allow them to meet the BNP chief and asked the IG Prison to maintain official formalities in this regard as they met him at the Secretariat. He, however, said the IG Prison is not responding to their application to take steps for the meeting with Khaleda. 'This means they're unwilling to give us any scope to meet Khaleda Zia," he said. Replying to a question, BNP standing committee member Dr Abdul Moyeen Khan said Oikyafront leaders will decide whether they should take any action demanding Khaleda's release, after assessing the Supreme Court's decision on December 5.

Not govt's job to decide

When asked whether the party will protest the price hike of daily essentials, Fakhrul said they have already observed some programmes, and if needed, programmes will be carried out in the future.

When asked about the price hike of electricity, Fakhrul said some of his party colleagues participated in the mass hearing and made their statements. "If price of electricity is hiked, then we will certainly announce programmes."

Urging people to come forward to rais against the "misdeeds" of the government, Fakhrul said price hike of daily essentials including onion, and that of electricity, does not affect only BNP but also people of the
