Renowned columnist Afsan Chowdhury also spoke at the event. Terming the current media structure an ancient one, he asked journalists to embrace digital platforms.

Dr Iftekharuzzaman, executive director of TIB, said, "in our country, the risk is higher for investigative journalism. But journalists need to survive through this risk."

To encourage risky journalism, TIB has been giving awards to journalists for the last 21 years, he added.

Awards were given under four categories – Print Media (Local), Print Media (National), Electronic Media (Report), and Electronic Media (Documentary).

The awardees are: eight reporters of Gramer Kagoz of Jashore for a report on corruption in maternity allowance; Prothom Alo's Fakhrul Islam Harun for a report on graft in Titas Gas; Channel 24's Iqbal Ahsan for a report on Sonali Bank's loan scam; investigation team for documentaries.

POLLUTION IN COX'S BAZAR HC questions govt inaction STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday asked authorities concerned of the government to explain in three months why their failure to stop marine pollution, waste dumping and use of disposable plastic products in Cox's Bazar should not be declared illegal.

It also asked why concerned authorities should not be directed to demolish unauthorised structures set up at reserved areas of the sea beach. The respondents have also been asked to explain why they should not be ordered to ensure environmental clearance certificates and sewage treatment plants for constructing hotels, motels, restaurants and other commercial structures at municipal areas in the district.

Secretaries to the cabinet division and ministries of forest and environment, civil aviation and tourism, housing and public work, public administration and water resources, and 16 others concerned were made respondents to the rule. The bench of Justice M Enayetur Rahim and Justice Md Mostafizur Rahman issued the rule following a writ petition filed recently by Bangladesh Environmental Lawyers Association (Bela)

In the petition, Bela said Cox's Bazar Development Authority has reportedly identified 216 hotels and 24 fish hatcheries that pollute the sea, as there was no sewage treatment plant in the hotels and hatcheries.

Bela prayed to the HC to pass orders on the respondents to protect hills, hillocks and forests, and save the beach from pollution and encroachment. Sayeed Ahmed Kabir, a lawyer for Bela, told The Daily Star the government declared 10,465 hectares of the sea beach ecologically critical area in 1999. Construction of all kinds are prohibited there, but the rule is not being enforced. Hills, hilly forests and hillocks are being damaged in Cox's Bazar's Sadar, Maheshkhali, Teknaf, Ramu, Chakaria, Ukhiya and Pekua upazilas. Illegal structures are being built there but authorities concerned are not taking any effective action, he added.

Experts demand cancer screening at upazila level

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Primary cancer screening services should be integrated at Upazila Health Complexes, speakers at a conference said yesterday. They were speaking at the '1st National Conference on Cancer Screening' at organised it, along with National Institute of Cancer Research and Hospital (NICRH). According to the World Health Organization, screening is the use of simple tests across a healthy population to identify individuals who have the disease, but do not yet have symptoms.

Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University (BSMMU). Community Oncology Centre Trust

Bangladesh has an estimated 13 to 15 lakh cancer patients, with two lakh new patients diagnosed each year.

At a policy dialogue session, Prof Syed Abdul Hamid of Institute of Health Economics at Dhaka University showed that Tk 2,000 crore in a year is enough to bring all possible patients of major NCDs under treatment, by imposing Tk 10 levy charge on average to all mobile phone users per month.

Around four hours later, her body was found in the alley. The pair of sandals was found near the body.

On Friday, police found sandal prints on an edge of Ayesha Shopping Complex's rooftop.

Quoting her school friend, police said Rumpa had gone to the complex's rooftop before.

After conducting her autopsy on Thursday, Dr Sohel Mahmud, head of Dhaka Medical College's forensic medicine department, told reporters that the deceased's hands, legs, waist and spinal cord were fractured.

Different agencies are investigating the murder case filed with Ramna Police Station. The case was shifted to DB on Saturday.

On Sunday, Saikat was arrested and placed on a fourday remand in connection with Rumpa's death.

Saikat was a BBA student at Stamford University. But after one semester, he transferred to a college under National University because of a family crisis, he claimed to this newspaper before his arrest.

Police said they could not yet say whether it was a murder or suicide.
