Bridge for thousands lies broken for years

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Jhenidah

Communications with Harinakundo upazila town have been immensely difficult for thousands of inhabitants in 10 villages in the upazila for the last two years.

The lone bridge connecting the upazila town with Daulatpur bazar turned impassable after a large section of it collapsed two years ago.

Water Development Board (WDB) built it over a canal in 1960 under the Ganga-Kapotakho irrigation project. The last repair work WDB did on the bridge was ten years ago.

But ever since the bridge sustained the massive damage couple of years ago, WDB did not take any steps to ease people's sufferings, alleged many of the villagers.

Residents of the ten villages -- Ahadnagar,

Sanatanpur, Maharajpur and Mrigibathan to name a few -- filed several petitions with WDB over the years, but to no avail, they also said.

Getting no hope from WDB, some locals mended a small part on the damaged section of the bridge by placing a bamboo platform there, villagers told this correspondent during a recent visit.

Nurul Alam from Ahadnagar village said very light vehicles such as bicycles, rickshaws and motorbikes have been crossing the bridge's bamboo platform while maintaining extra caution.

He also said the gaping hole beside the platform, however, still poses risk of a fatal accident and many people already sustained severe injuries falling through it.

Rickshaw puller Tarikul Islam said his passengers have to get off the rickshaw so the empty vehicle can be pulled over the bamboo platform very slowly.

Crossing the bridge on the makeshift platform is risky for anyone. Besides, this situation compels him to work longer hours for making a decent earning in one day, he also said.

Contacted, Sub-Assistant Inspector Khurshid Sharif of WDB office in Harinakundo said the office did not have necessary manpower or funding for the repair work of the damaged bridge.

He already wrote to the higher authorities regarding the bridge and it will be fixed as soon as funds are allocated for it, he added.

Suchitra finds silver lining

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Tangail

Suchitra Rani's father Santosh Chandra, a village doctor in Tangail's Gopalpur upazila, died when she was taking Higher Secondary Examinations in May.

Despite the shock of losing the only income generator in her family, she passed the exams with flying colours.

But when the young talent, a resident of Sahapur village, got selected at Rajshahi Medical College, her future looked bleak as her father left nothing but a small dwelling to support her higher education.

After exhausting all her resources, Suchitra's widowed mother Mukti Rani, a homemaker, had given up arranging the finances for her daughter's dream of being a physician.

Taking notice of her plight, Tangail district administration has recently stepped forward to provide assistance to Suchitra.

Just when her classes at the medical school were about to start, in January next year, Tangail Deputy Commissioner (DC) Shahidul Islam recently handed over Tk 35,000 to her from government funds for buying books and supplies, including a human skeleton for anatomy course.

Yesterday, the DC handed over an additional Tk 25,000 to her and assured her of providing all necessary financial support on behalf of the administration throughout her studies at the medical school, as long as he holds the office of DC in Tangail.

"Although born in a poor family in a remote area, Suchitra is a bright student. Something great can be achieved through helping such a meritorious girl," the DC said.

Thanking the DC for the support, Suchitra said she would in return also continue her endeavours to provide medical care to the needy in rural areas after she becomes a cardiologist.

She also thanked Amir Khasru, assistant superintendent of police in Tangail (Gopalpur circle), for the generous contribution he made towards the admission fee at the medical college.
