

Crazy, Stupid, Love

Emma Stone and Dave McCary have kept their relationship fairly private. However, the two publicly announced their engagement on December 4, 2019. Dave took to Instagram to share the news by posting a picture of themselves, with Emma donning a ring on her finger, and captioning it with a simple double-heart emoji. The couple first began dating back in October of 2017, after meeting at a Saturday Night Live (SNL) skit. While they have yet to announce a wedding date, fans are waiting in anticipation to see the adorable couple tie the knot.

No Holding Hands!

Justin Timberlake was recently caught holding hands with co-star Alisha Wainwright, which sparked rumours about the two dating. Timberlake, who is married to actor and model Jessica Biel, was quick to address the problem with a public apology. He resorted to Instagram, where he said, "I drank way too much that night and I regret my behavior. I should have known better. This is not the example I want to set for my son". He also added, "I apologize to my amazing wife and family for putting them through such an embarrassing situation, and I am focused on being the best husband and father I can be. This was not that." However, it seems that Biel isn't ready to forgive him yet, and sources claim that this incident might mark the end of the couple's marriage of seven years.

Deepika's Movie Time

Bollywood diva Deepika Padukone and Gully Boy actor Siddhant Chaturvedi are set to star in a film together, which will be directed by Shakun Batra. Batra is well known for his films, such as Ek Main Aur Ekk Tu and Kapoor and Sons. The film, which will start shooting in March of 2020, will be produced by Karan Johar. A source mentioned that two more prominent actors will also star in the film, but no names have yet been revealed. Deepika will also be seen in two other films next year: Chhapaak and '83.
