PM says ahead of Christmas

BSS, Dhaka

Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina yesterday said her government is working for the welfare of people of all religions.

“We are working for all, following the policy of Father of the Nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman who dreamt of a secular state where everyone will have the same rights,” she said while exchanging Christmas greetings with the Christian community at her official residence, Gono Bhaban, in Dhaka yesterday afternoon.

“Bangladesh is a secular state and all citizens, irrespective of their religion, will live here with the same rights,” she added.

In this context, she recalled that people of all faiths fought shoulder to shoulder in the Liberation War of 1971 and achieved independence.

“So, we want to build Bangladesh as a developed and prosperous country, which along with its people will earn a dignified position in the world. That is our target,” she said.

At the outset of her speech, the prime minister extended her greetings to members of the Christian community across the world, saying that Jesus Christ always worked for humanity.

“He (Jesus) taught us love for all human beings and their welfare,” she said, adding that Bangabandhu also dedicated his life for the welfare of all.

Elaborating her government’s success in various fields, Sheikh Hasina said her government has been able to bring down the poverty rate to 20 percent from 41 percent. “We are making strides in taking development to every corner of the country,” she said.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

BNP yesterday expressed their apprehension about the Election Commission’s “hasty” announcement of the schedule for the polls to the two Dhaka city corporations.

“We think that the Election Commission announced the schedule hastily in order to help a ruling party candidate win the election,” claimed Mirza Fakhru Islam Alamgir, secretary general of BNP, while speaking to journalists at a press conference at the party chairperson’s Gulshan office yesterday.

He came up with the concern after holding a meeting of the party’s standing committee, its highest policymaking body. The meeting discussed the current political situation of the country and the party’s next strategy.

“Our decision was that we will take part in the local government elections and we will participate in this election too. But everything depends on the electoral situation,” he said.

Raising objection to the use of Electronic Voting Machine (EVM), Fakhru said, “Election Commission said EVM will be used. This is highly objectionable. We condemn this decision. There is a huge chance

Six ‘Allahr Dal members’ held in Gaibandha

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Banned militant outfit Allahr Dal had been actively recruiting members in Gaibandha, “giving invitations” to 1,500 people including 500 women over three years, Rapid Action Battalion (Rab) said yesterday.

Of them, over 100 have taken oath to work for them, the elite force claimed after the arrest of six suspected members of the group from the district.

The arrestees were identified as Babul Khandakar (35), Atoar Hossain (67), Osman Gani (56), Abdul Aziz alias Babu (39), Hossain Prodhan (35), and Abu Taher Prodhan (50).

A special team of Rab-2 conducted drives in the district’s Harinmari area under Palashbari Police Station, said Muhammad Mohiuddin Faruque, superintendent of police of Rab-2.

The elite force seized extremist books, leaflets and cell phones from their possession.

The arrestees joined the outfit activities in 2015 and they have already completed the target of inviting 1,500 people in 2015, 2016 and 2017 to work for them, said Faruque, quoting documents and lists they received from the arrestees.

“We are now trying to get their invitation list for the year of 2018 and 2019,” said the SP.

In primary interrogation, the arrestees said that they do not believe in inviting people on online platforms. They visit people’s houses and invite people in person to work for them, he said.

The arrestees also said that they are followers of their Aamir Motin Mehedi, who is now in jail. They joined the outfit after getting invitation
