Hackers steal vaccine data in Europe

US tops 3,000 daily death mark; Japan Covid cases hit daily record

AGENCIES

US drugmaker Pfizer and its German partner BioNTech said on Wednesday that documents related to development of their Covid-19 vaccine had been "unlawfully accessed" in a cyberattack on Europe's medicines regulator.

The European Medicines Agency (EMA), which assesses medicines and vaccines for the European Union, said hours earlier it had been targeted in a cyberattack. It gave no further details.

Pfizer and BioNTech said they did not believe any personal data of trial participants had been compromised and EMA "has assured us that the cyber attack will have no impact on the timeline for its review."

It was not immediately clear when or how the attack took place, who was responsible or what other information may have been compromised.

The two companies said they had been informed by the EMA "that the agency has been subject to a cyber attack and that some documents relating to the regulatory submission for Pfizer and BioNTech's Covid-19 vaccine candidate" had been viewed.

Such documents could be extremely valuable to other countries and companies rushing to develop vaccines, experts said.

Ex-Ducusu VP Noor alleges attempt on his life

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Former Ducusu VP Nurul Haque Nur yesterday alleged that an attempt was made on his life by running him over with a car in the capital's Malibagh area on Wednesday night when he was on his way home.

He further alleged that the vehicle was owned by a secretary. It had a sticker of the Parliament Secretariat on its windshield and a pass sticker from the home ministry.

Speaking at a press conference at Zaman Tower in the city's Paltan yesterday, Nur said a car (Dhaka Metro GA-31-6508) was following him and his party men around 11:00pm on Wednesday when they were coming down the Moghbazar-Mouchak Flyover on their way home to Badda.

"I always ride a motorcycle driven by my younger brother. As it was late on Wednesday night and the lights were off on the flyover, I didn't feel safe. I called an Uber while my brother and a few members of my party [Gono Odhikar Parishad] were on motorbikes," Nur said.

The former student leader said the car tried twice to hit his brother Aminul Islam's motorcycle, but the latter somehow managed to avoid a collision with the vehicle.

After a while, the car rear-ended a bus in front of Abul Hotel on DIT Road. Two men, who seemed to be tense at that time, were in the car, Nur said.

The car driver then put the

SELF-RELIANCE MAIN OBJECTIVE

Dr Nurul Islam, deputy chairman of the planning commission, discloses today that the draft outline of the first five-year plan would be announced by the middle of 1973 and different working groups are now working to prepare the outline. He shares that the main objective of the first five-year plan would be to attain self-reliance and to reduce the dependence on foreign aid. The plan would be formulated keeping in mind the economic condition of the lower-income group, who constitute the vast majority of the population, and to ensure food, clothing and medicine for them, he adds. He further says that this plan would be a departure from those of the Pakistani days because Pakistani planners never placed emphasis on the welfare of the vast majority of the people who live in the rural areas.

Trump asks SC to invalidate millions of votes

CNN ONLINE

President Donald Trump asked the Supreme Court on Wednesday to block millions of votes from four battleground states that voted for President-elect Joe Biden.

Trump's request came in a filing with the court asking to intervene in a lawsuit brought by Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton seeking to invalidate millions of votes cast in Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

The President is being represented by a new attorney, John Eastman, who is known for recently pushing a racist conspiracy theory questioning whether Vice President-elect Kamala Harris was eligible for the role because her parents were immigrants.

The move from Trump comes just a day after the high court denied a request from Pennsylvania Republicans to block certification of the commonwealth's election results. The one-line order was issued with no noted dissents or comment
