Restoration of canals revives hope in 3 Kalapara villages

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Patuakhali

The recent re-excavation of two silted canals, Kumrimara and Majidpur, has brought much joy and happiness to thousands of inhabitants of three villages in Kalapara upazila.

The farming communities in the villages -- Kumrimara, Majidpur and Sonatala -- have been suffering for long as water for irrigation stopped flowing in the two silted up canals.

With fresh water flowing in the canals, farmers in the three villages -- known as 'village of vegetables' -- already started to cultivate Aman and Boro rice along with various seasonal vegetables.

Many of the villagers said they now look forward to a prosperous future and the days of hardship they endured would only be in their memories.

At least three thousand bighas of land in the villages will come under round-the-year cultivation of crops after the canals were excavated along a length of about two kilometres.

Bangladesh Agriculture Development Corporation (BADC) under 'Small Holder Agricultural

Competitiveness Project' completed the re-excavation work at a cost of Tk 85 lakh in 2019-20 fiscal year.

Underground pipe lines have also been built to supply irrigation water to croplands located as far as one kilometre from the canals.

The farming communities in the villages -- Kumrimara, Majidpur and Sonatala -- have been suffering for long as water for irrigation stopped flowing in the two silted up canals.

Mohammad Solaiman, engineer of BADC in Patuakhali, said that apart from the excavation of the canals, the BADC would also install water tanks at farmers' houses for harvesting rainwater.

The water reservoirs would enable the farmers irrigate vegetable fields or meet household needs during dry seasons and they would install such tanks, with 2,000 litres capacity, at 100 houses over the next one year, he added.

Farmer Zakir Gazi, from Kumrimara village, said, "The irrigation crisis is over. Farmers in the three villages are now cultivating vegetables and rice again. About 200 farmers have cultivated Boro this season."

The two canals will now help them grow different crops all year long, said Sultan Gazi and Abul Kalam, two farmers from the same village.

Abdul Mannan, agriculture extension officer for Kalapara upazila, said after the re-excavation of the silted canals, the area will no longer have water logging during the wet season and there will be plenty of water for irrigation during the dry season.

Thanks to the initiative of the government, food production in the area will see an increase, which will ultimately play a role in increasing the overall food production in the country, he also hoped.

Rangamati jujube growers all smile

Farmers are cultivating different varieties of jujube like Bau Kul, apple Kul, Narkel Kul, Ball Sundori and Kashmiri Kul

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Rangamati

Jujube is a small fruit, locally known as boro. Growers of the fruit in the district are now happy at getting bumper production and much higher prices.

There are different varieties of jujube including Bau, apple Kul, Narkel Kul, Ball Sundori and Kashmiri Kul. All varieties are cultivated in the district.

According to size and quality, one kg of jujube is being sold at Tk 120 to Tk 150 in the local markets, growers said.

During a recent visit to many places, this correspondent saw that the growers remained busy harvesting jujube at their orchards.

Farmer Sushanta Tanchangya, 32, said he cultivated Apple Kul, Bal Sundori and local deshi on his three acres of land five years ago.

"I am interested in farming jujube as I have been getting fair prices for selling the fruit for the last few years" he said, adding that this year, he has already sold the fruit at Tk one lakh.

Hemo Kumar Chakma, 40, a jujube orchard owner in Sadar upazila, said he is very happy at getting bumper much higher prices.

"In 2015, I cultivated jujube on 30 decimals of land. Some of the fruit started to come from 2016. I hope this year, I will get Tk 1.5 lakh. I spent Tk 30,000 for the cultivation. Last year, I got Tk 1 lakh from selling the fruit," said Hemo Chakma.

Another jujube grower Guri Mila Chakma, 55, of Sapchari village in Rangamati Sadar upazila, said she prepared two orchards on 10 bighas of land.

"I have already sold jujube at Tk 50,000 and I am hoping to get Tk 80,000 more from selling the rest of the fruit in my orchard. I spent Tk 23,000 on production," Guri added.

Fruit trader Sonamoni Chakma, 35, of Banorupa bazar in Rangamati town, said there is huge demand of jujube among the customers.

"We collect jujube from the orchard and sell it in the market of the town. We are earning good profit due to high demand. We are also sending jujubes to Dhaka and other parts of the country" he added.

Krishno Prasad Mallik, deputy director (DD) of the Department of Agricultural Extension (DAE) in Rangamati, said this year, 760 hectares of land in the district have been brought under jujube cultivation with the production target of 7,600 tonnes.

Day by day farmers have been interested in growing jujube as it brings good profit to them, said the DD.
