Bangladesh, US to work

good governance and human rights. Apart from engagement with Blinken, which could not be held in-person due to Covid-19 restrictions, Momen was scheduled to deliver two speeches on the Rohingya crisis, meet some US Congressmen and give interviews to two US media outlets in response to "negative propaganda" against Bangladesh, especially regarding extrajudicial killings.

Bangladesh's foreign ministry said the visit is meant to reach out to the new US administration to further enhance the level of cooperation between the two countries having bilateral annual trade of about $9 billion, which could be much higher if potentials are harnessed.

The US suspended GSP facilities of Bangladesh following the Rana Plaza collapse in 2013, and Bangladesh has been seeking reconsideration of the GSP facilities.

On the Rohingya issue, Bangladesh also sought the leading role of the US, which provided the biggest humanitarian assistance for the Rohingyas.

In a statement, the US State Department said the two leaders discussed the situation in Myanmar, a durable solution to the Rohingya refugee crisis, and the importance of respect for labour and human rights.

They also discussed ways of strengthening bilateral economic ties, cooperation on counter terrorism, defence and common challenges like climate change together.

"Good to speak with Foreign Minister @AKAbdulMomen and congratulate him on Bangladesh's 50th anniversary of independence. We affirmed the strong, enduring US-Bangladesh relationship and look forward to working together to address challenges in South Asia and the Indo-Pacific," Blinken tweeted.

In a separate statement, Bangladesh's foreign ministry said Momen congratulated the new US administration for upholding the democratic process with a strong popular mandate, assuming once again America's global leadership role.

He said Bangladesh wants to elevate her relations with the US from partnership to a strategic level through maintaining close and sustained contact with the US leadership, emphasising on the exchange of visits at the highest political levels between the two countries.

Momen sought early deportation of Rashed Chowdhury, the self-confessed killer of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, in the spirit of the shared values of establishing good governance, the rule of law and justice.

He urged the US to take the lead and bring the international community together to put enough political pressure on Myanmar to create condition for sustainable return of the Rohingyas, while encouraging more stringent measures like imposing economic sanction and withdrawing GSP facilities of Myanmar.

He also recommended that the US appoint a special envoy on Rohingya.

Momen briefed on Bangladesh's effective handling of the coronavirus pandemic and noted the US donation of high-quality ventilators to Bangladesh, and Bangladesh's supply of 6.5 million PPE to the US.

He said Bangladesh is ready to supply medical instruments, like syringes.

Blinken hoped both the countries would be able to find newer avenues for collaboration in the post Covid-19 era by mutual support and cooperation.

As Momen sought US investment in Special Economic Zones and High-Tech Parks, Blinken sought favourable policy support from Bangladesh to enable a business and investment climate for promoting more trade and investment between the two countries.

Both sides hoped the US companies would take advantage of the competitiveness of Bangladesh and invest in the country in much greater volume, particularly in the areas of ICT, energy, pharmaceuticals and infrastructural development. Momen invited Blinken to visit Bangladesh soon to attend the celebrations of the birth centenary of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman and the golden jubilee of Bangladesh's independence. He hoped that President Biden would visit Bangladesh soon.

Blinken lauded Bangladesh's economic performance, and noted that the US considers Bangladesh a crucial economic and security partner in the Indo-Pacific region.

FROM PAGE 12 Days before the bloody rebel BDR mutiny, the distributed had jawans leaflets inside and outside the Pilkhana headquarters in which they raised various demands. As part of the conspiracy, they held several meetings before the mutiny and decided how they would loot the armouries, an investigation revealed. But the Rifle Security Unit (RSU) of BDR failed to alert the authorities. It could not be known if there was any probe into the failure of the RSU, and if anyone got punished.

Investigation into the intelligence failure is one of the seven recommendations made by the HC.

people, Seventy-four including 57 top and midranking army officials, were massacred during the mutiny. Family members of many officers who got trapped inside were brutally tortured and abused.

BDR was later renamed Border Guard Bangladesh (BGB)

Meanwhile, the apex court is yet to begin hearing of appeals filed by death penalty convicts in the BDR carnage case.

The High Court in a verdict on November 27, 2017 confirmed the death sentence of 139 convicts, and around 30 of them later filed the appeals with the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. Attorney General AM Amin Uddin told The Daily Star that the convicts filed the appeals just a few months ago and the top court is yet to fix any date for hearing the appeals. Their execution depends on the Appellate Division verdicts to be delivered upon hearing of the appeals.

"It cannot be said at this moment when the death sentence of the convicts will be executed," said the attorney general.

However, Aminul Islam, one of the defence lawyers of BDR carnage case, said he does not think that the hearing of the appeals will be completed this year.

"Around 30 convicts have filed appeals and other convicts still have the scope to file appeals with the application for condonation

Make probe reports acquitted by the HC, could not get out of prison as they are accused in the explosives case and the trial in this case is not finished, said defence lawyer Aminul Islam. He said the trial court has so far recorded statements from 172 witnesses out of total 1,264 in the case. It may take another two to three more years to finish the trial if the proceedings continue at the current pace, he said.

Public Prosecutor Mosharraf Hossain Kajol, however, hoped that the trial will be finished this year after taking statements from 100 to 120 witnesses.

In the meantime, the family members of those detained accused are leading miserable lives. "We are very helpless," said Abdullah Al Mamun Shakil, son of Abdur Rashid, who got acquitted in the carnage case but remained behind bars as the trial in the explosives case against him is still pending. "My father joined the BDR headquarters at Pilkhana a couple of days before the bloody mutiny. My mother cries for my father's plight every now and then," he said on February 21.

Shakil said separate petitions were moved for his father's bail three times in the explosive case, but the lower court refused to grant him bail and even did not issue any written order and therefore, bail petition cannot be moved before the HC in the case.

Abdul Matin Mridha, father of sepoy Sumon Mridha, said his son has already served 10 years in jail in the carnage case but he could not come out free.

"His mother and I are very worried and passing days in agony," he said.

Mohsin Reza, son of DAD Kader, said his father was awarded seven years' imprisonment in the mutiny case and seven years' in the carnage case. Later, the High Court acquitted him from the charges. "I pleaded to the judiciary be kind to us and complete the trial. My father may be proved innocent," he said. Saquib Rahman, son of slain Col Kuadrat Elahi, thinks it "unfair" that many accused in the carnage case are still in jail for the explosive case despite getting acquittal in the carnage case. Some have even embraced natural death, he said. "As the family members of the martyred officers, we never want an innocent to be punished.

Shahadat goes to tribunal FROM PAGE 12 said Shahadat, also convenor of Chattogram city BNP. "In the handwritten result sheets, they changed the figure of casting votes. They changed 5 percent votes to 22.5 percent," he said.

"Initially, when the results were declared, it was shown that I did not get any votes in three centres, but after three days, they [EC] said I did not get any votes in 28 centres, which is not only unrealistic but also unbelievable," said Shahadat, adding, "It was shown that I got 10 votes or less than that in 178 polling centres which is also unbelievable."

"Above all, a farce was staged in the name of polls and so we demanded cancellation of the election result and fresh polls to be held under a new and transparent EC," he said.

Shahadat made the same allegations before journalists days after the polls were held. At that time, Mohammad Hasanuzzaman, returning officer of the CCC polls, said the allegations were not true.

"The result sheets show the actual figure of casting votes," he told The Daily Star at that time.

This correspondent yesterday could not reach the returning officer for his comments.

HC issues rule on the govt

FROM PAGE 12 Rangpur and Khulna metropolitan police, superintendents of Rangpur, Khulna, Dinajpur and officers in charge of police stations concerned of the three districts, where the cases were filed for the rape of the children, have been made respondents to the rule

The HC bench of Justice Mozibur Rahman Miah and Justice Kamrul Hossain Mollah came up with the rule after hearing a writ petition filed by rights organisation Children Charity Bangladesh Foundation (CCBF) on January 2 this year seeking necessary order to this effect.

During the hearing of the petition, CCBF's lawyer and its Chairman Abdul Halim told the HC bench that around 23,000 women and children have reportedly been the victim of rape and 185 of them were killed after being raped in the last five years.

Around 97 percent accused of such cases got acquitted from the court and therefore the conviction rate in such cases is only three percent, he said, adding that there are Women and Children Repression Prevention Tribunals in all 64 districts of the country. The lawyer questioned how the state and judiciary can be happy with the three percent conviction and 97 percent acquittal in the rape cases.

This is nothing but a sheer unnecessary expense on the part of the revenue, he argued. Lawyer Abdul Halim said the Supreme Court has supervisory power over all tribunals and lower courts and has a constitutional obligation to see whether the trial and investigations of the cases are properly and fairly held so that the conviction for rape is increased.

Why did they kill

Pradip Biswas, a forensic doctor at DMCH who conducted the autopsy, said no marks of torture were visible as the body was already decomposed.

"We sent the rectal swab, viscera and other samples for different tests. We will be able to determine the cause of his death upon receiving the reports," he said.
