fired 75 bullets, 26 pellets and four teargas shells during the incident to disperse the protesters and ensure "public safety".

Among the accused are BNP Joint

Among the other named accused are central and district level JCD leaders.

Chhatra Dal, the pro-BNP students' front, was scheduled to hold the rally in front of the Jatiya Press Club on Sunday morning protesting the move to revoke the gallantry award of late president Ziaur Rahman, and also demanding repeal of the Digital Security Act and an investigation into the death of writer Mushtaq in prison custody. Witnesses said police dispersed the JCD men before they could start the rally.

At least 40 people, including cops, were hurt in sporadic clashes between police and JCD men that lasted for about 40 minutes.

At one stage of the clashes, police entered the press club premises to drive JCD men away. Law enforcers were also seen firing rubber bullets and teargas shells towards the

Yesterday, the JCD staged demonstrations on different university campuses and in districts protesting the police attack and arrests. 'POLICE DEMONSTRATED EXTREME PATIENCE'

Home Minister Asaduzzaman Khan yesterday said police "dealt the situation with extreme patience" during the clashes on Sunday.

The minister was replying to journalists' questions after attending the Police Memorial Day programme in the capital. The minister said a few cops entered the press club premises and that they fired teargas shells to control the situation. He said the press club authorities should take the responsibility to prevent outsiders from entering its premises.

PROTESTS CONTINUE

Protests continued for the fourth consecutive day yesterday demanding justice for the death of writer Mushtaq and abolishment of the controversial Digital Security Act.

Around 200 leaders and activists of left-leaning Progressive Students Alliance brought out a procession from in front of Raju Memorial Sculpture on the Dhaka University campus and marched towards the Bangladesh Secretariat to lay seize to the home ministry around noon.

Police intercepted the procession before the DPDC building near the secretariat. The protesters held a rally there.

The demonstrators demanded release of all prisoners, including cartoonist Ahmed Kabir Kishore, held in cases filed under the DSA. They also demanded release of their eight leaders and activists who were arrested during demonstrations over Mushtag's death and withdrawal of cases filed against them.

Talking to reporters, DMP ADC Harunur Rashid said he thanked the protesters for ending their rally peacefully at the request of "Jatiya Press Club is a neutral national organisation and it is an institution of journalists. It is open to all irrespective of opinions and political parties. So, carrying out attacks on police from there is really unacceptable," he said.

Hasan, also the Awami League joint general secretary, was replying to reporters' queries at his ministry, reports BSS.

He said the question should be raised first why a journalist of ATN Bangla got injured in the attack from ICD activists.

About the DSA, the minister said similar provisions of chapter VI of the act are also in Chapter XI of the Information Technology Act of India and in Section 16 of the Protection of Electronic Crimes Act of Pakistan

YEŚTERDAY'S HEARING

In the hearing, Jyotirmoy Barua said he had filed it seeking bail for both Kishore Mushtag but the latter died on Thursday while in

Although the information report (FIR) mentioned that they have deteriorated law and order and situation confusion, it did not mention how they have done so, the lawyer said.

Ťalking about his client, the lawyer said Kishore is a cartoonist and cartoonists, anywhere in the world, criticise different activities of government through cartoons and this is nothing new.

Kishore is also a human rights defender who works for the rights of marginalised people, especially transgender people, said Jyotirmoy, adding that Kishore even received an international award for cartoon while he was in jail.

Citing the document, the lawyer said the complainant had only gotten information after the cartoonist was arrested and his mobile phone and computer were seized.

When the lawyer talked about weak points of the case, the court said this is a new law and there is a shortage of trained people and investigators.

Jyotirmoy replied that in case there was any fault in the case, the accused, not the police, would get the benefit.

The lawyer said as per the law, the investigating officer was supposed to submit charge sheet within 60 days of filing of the case. In default, days can be given and the cyber tribunal can allow 30 more days, meaning the investigation must be completed within 105 days of filing the case, he said.

But the charge sheet was submitted on January 11 and instead of accepting it, the cyber tribunal ordered further investigation, he said.

Jyotirmoy said Mushtaq and Kishore were produced before the tribunal on February 23 when an investigation report scheduled to be submitted.

On that day, Kishore told Jyotirmoy that he was tortured in custody and that his right ear was nearly impaired and a scar had developed on his left leg, the lawyer said.

Jyotirmoy said he informed Metropolitan Session Judge's Court verbally but Kishore was not granted bail. Jyotirmoy said there are many faults in the case and they would mention those during the trial stage but his client has a social standing and is now ailing, so he should be granted bail.

He said as per the law, an accused must be produced during a remand hearing but Kishore was not produced before the court during his remand hearing on Sunday.

The HC bench said this is a separate issue and set tomorrow for giving order. POLICE SEEK PERMISSION TO QUIZ DIDARUL, MINHAJ

Police have submitted a petition seeking permission to interrogate two accused who are now out on bail in the same case. The accused are Didarul and Minhaj Mannan Emon, managing director of BLE securities and shareholderdirector of Dhaka Stock Exchange.

Additional Metropolitan Magistrate Abu Bakar Siddique yesterday set March 10 for hearing on the petition in presence of the accused.

On February 25, newlyappointed investigation officer Md Afchhar Ahmed, sub-inspector of Counter Terrorism and Transnational Crime (CTTC) unit of police, submitted the petition.

if such confrontation continues, then they will not be able to escape the flames," added Bangabandhu. Bangabandhu, as a directive, called for a province-wide hartal from March

3 to 6 from 6:00am to 2:00pm in all spheres including government offices, secretariat, High Court and other courts, semi-government and autonomous corporations, Railways and other communication services, transport -- private and public -- and all mills, factories, industrial and commercial establishments and markets. Exemptions are to be extended to ambulances, press cars, hospitals, medicine shops, electric and water supply services. Tajuddin Ahmad was entrusted with the task of formulating the directives.

Archer K Blood, then American Consul General in Dhaka, assessed the situation as: "It seemed to us that the Sheikh [Mujib] was trying to walk a slippery path. On the one hand he was trying to maintain his leadership and keep the initiative by calling for an end to martial law and a continuation of the struggle. One the other hand he was seeking to cool the crowds so as to avoid a tightening of military control." [Archer K Blood, The Cruel Birth of Bangladesh, UPL, 2006, pg. 162] 'PPP HAS NEVER REJECTED 6 POINTS'

In a press conference held in Karachi on March 2, 1971, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto claimed his party had consistently endeavoured to go as close to the sixpoint demands of the Awami League.

'We did not demand a strong centre but only a federal centre that would have the character of keeping the country united federal state. We further manifested our 'bona fides' by mass mobilisation of public opinion in West Pakistan in favour of a constitution as close to the Six Points formula as possible," he added.

Regarding the postponement of the National Assembly session, Bhutto said, "We demanded postponement of the National Assembly session only to provide the two major parties with an opportunity to have another dialogue. We are willing to have this dialogue anywhere at any time that the Awami League would like. If the Awami League fails to reciprocate, the onus for the consequences will not be on us.'

SEARCH FOR A POLITICAL SOLUTION

In search of a political solution to the situation created in East Pakistan after the sine die postponement of the National Assembly, Yahya Khan and Bhutto, accompanied by several of their key advisers, held a discussion on March 2, 1971. The goal was to find an institutional forum, short of a meeting of the National Assembly, that would be conducive to forge a political solution. Bhutto agreed to participate in a roundtable conference of all parties represented in the National Assembly.

They planned for such a meeting so that they could face Awami League in situation that would be morally, though not legally, binding. [Richard Sisson and Leo E Rose, War and Secession: Pakistan, India, and the Creation of Bangladesh, UCP, 1990, pg. 96] CURFEW IMPOSED IN DHAKA CITY At about 7:30 pm the imposition of curfew in Dhaka city, from 9:00pm to 8:00am the following morning, was announced through radio. Subsequently, the Martial Law Administrator (MLA) announced that the curfew would continue on a daily basis from 7:00pm to 7:00am until calm was restored.

As soon as the announcement of the curfew was made, students came out of their hostels and general people of their houses and formed processions, chanting slogans to oppose it. Their slogans "Sandhya ain mani na", "Joy Bangla", "Bir Bangali osthro dhoro, Bangladesh shadhin koro" echoed throughout the city. The curfew was broken and barricades were formed.

In front of Morning News newspaper office at DIT intersection, the military opened fire on people at around 9:30pm. When another procession of people broke the curfew and headed towards the Governor's House, they also became targets of bullets.

bail six times before he died on February 24. His death triggered condemnation and demonstrations across the country against the DSA.

Foreign Minister Momen said the American media would never entertain such remarks if the Bangladesh ambassador expressed concern over the killings in schools, malls or restaurants although mass shootings lead to many deaths in America.

"Ours is a strange country. We don't know why he died, but find the foreigners concerned. And our media publish it too," he told reporters after his visit to the US from Feb 23-27. Death in jail is quite common in the US, he said, referring to his visit to American prisons during his stay in the US a few years ago. During the latest visit to Washington, he met with US officials, including Secretary of State Antony Blinken, Presidential Special Envoy on Climate Change John Kerry, and several Congressmen, and participated in webinars on the Rohingya crisis, the US-Bangladesh relationship, trade, and investment.

Momen also met UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres, gave interviews to Washington Post, Voice of America and a Bangla newspaper.

Asked if there were discussions on surveillance the Al Jazeera report "All the Prime Minister's Men", he said only the journalists from a few Bangla TV channels had questions about it.

He termed the Al Jazeera report "nothing but drama" devoid of facts.

Some people found that Al Jazeera showed General Aziz going to Malaysia from Singapore and his brother going to the airport to receive him in Kuala Lumpur. But the location where his brother went was actually a European airport, because there were logos of Europe in the background, he said.

'When General Aziz was getting into the car [in Kuala Lumpur]... the car his brother was shown getting into had European number plate, but General Aziz was in the car with a Kuala Lumpur number plate. They [Al Jazeera] could not make a good match. Cut and paste have not worked well..." he said.

About the surveillance equipment that the Al Jazeera report refers to, Momen said many peacekeepers died in Darfur and each had to be compensated with $70,000. It was 2016 when AK Abdul Momen was Permanent Representative of Bangladesh to the UN. During that time, the US took a strong initiative to reduce the deaths of peacekeepers.

equipment to the peacekeepers to reduce the number of deaths. We were then the number one peacekeeper-sending nation. So, we agreed to it. Many countries initially did not agree, but they finally agreed.

After searching a lot, Bangladesh found a Hong Kong-based dealer and signed a deal with it in 2016. That company supplied the surveillance equipment in 2018 from Hungary, he said.

"General Aziz was not the chief of the army then. He was then the head of BGB. He had no role to play.. Therefore, linking General Aziz and his brother behind the purchase of the surveillance equipment is baseless... the drama had not been performed properly."

It cannot be said that General Aziz is a bad person if his brother is bad, the foreign minister said.

"If there was any fact in the we would have allegations, definitely investigated it. Al Jazeera's information, in that case, would have been helpful. If you media people provide us with the correct information, it will always be helpful

"Al Jazeera said his brothers are bad persons, therefore, he [Gen Aziz] is also a bad person. This is not factual, spoke of providing Momen said.
