tremendous progress in economy and poverty alleviation, the country is lagging behind in reducing inequality, bringing in inclusive development and creating a secular society.

Mustafizur Rahman, distinguished fellow of the Centre for Policy Dialogue (CPD), said one of the major features of Bangabandhu's 1st five-year plan was to make Bangladesh self-sufficient.

At the beginning, many people thought that Bangladesh would be a perennial basket case.

"But, Bangabandhu thought that with the gradual implementation of five-year plans, he would be able to reduce our dependency on aid and also there would be less dependence on imports," he added.

He said even in 1990, our export and aid ratio was 1:1, and in the pre-pandemic year, our export was 40 billion dollars against 5 billion dollars of aid.

Following Bangabandhu's vision of a five-year plan, we were able to transform our economy from aid to trading nation.

Binayak Sen, research director at Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies, said Bangladesh provides an inspiring story reducing poverty, with 25 million people lifted from poverty over 15 years. In 1973-74, national poverty was assessed at around 80 per cent, and it was around 60 per cent in 1991-92. It reduced to 24 per cent in 2016 and 20 per cent in 2020 just prior to the pandemic.

Major General Emdad Ul Bari, director general of the BISS, said building infrastructure rehabilitation after thousands of people lost everything in the war, reviving financial, industrial and business organisations, ensuring security and good governance and establishing diplomatic relations with countries across the world were among the other challenges faced by Bangabandhu.

Mahfuz Kabir, research director at the BISS, and Qazi Kholiuzzaman Ahmad, chairman of Palli Karma-Sahayak Foundation, also spoke at the event.

Petitioner's lawyer Manzill Murshid told the HC bench that few of the 2010 directives were implemented, but the complete list of language heroes was not prepared, and the Language Movement museum has not been established, even after 10 years.

Following a writ petition filed by HRPB, another HC bench on August 25, 2010 issued eight directives upon the government to protect the sanctity and dignity of the Central Shaheed Minar in the capital.

The bench had ordered to set up Shaheed Minars at premises of all universities and other educational institutions across the country, to show respect to the memories of the language heroes.

It directed the authorities to set up a museum and library at any side of the Central Shaheed Minar and take effective measures so that no unsocial activities can take place on its premises.

It asked the government to take effective measures, so that no function or meeting can be held at the original Bedi (main part) of Shaheed Minar. It, however, ruled that there would be no embargo in holding any function outside the original Bedi.

The HC ordered to form a committee for preparing a list of language heroes and publish it in a gazette notification by January 31, 2012.

The bench asked the cultural affairs ministry to appoint three security guards to protect the Shaheed Minar area.

It also directed the government to honour the language movement heroes, both dead and alive with posthumous and other awards for their contribution to the language movement.

The government was also asked to invite language movement heroes in all state programmes and ensure all governmental facilities to them.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Ctg
Police arrested two persons with a locally-made gun and 605 yaba pills in port city's Patharghata area early yesterday.

A car was also seized from Sayed Md Tuhiin (34) and Towsif Ahmed (25), said police.

Tuhiin is the listed muggers in Kotwali and he has developed a drug peddling syndicate across the city, said the law enforcers.

Kotwali Police Station Officer-in-Charge

Nezam Uddin said a police team signaled a private car on Bundle Road in Patharghata. When the vehicle did not comply with it, police intercepted the car, said the OC.

The yaba and gun were found after checking their bodies, said the police officer.

Sub-inspector Mominul Hasan said, "The car was used in peddling yaba. They carried the gun to save themselves rivals."

"We are trying to arrest two others who escaped arrest," added SI Momin.

there. SB and CITC both work on intel and they also have similarities in their work, he said while addressing reporters at DMP headquarters.

He thanked the government for the new appointment.

In reply to a query whether CITC will be affected from his transfer, Monirul said they mainly conduct intel-based operation after the Holy Artisan café attack.

"We have successes in combating militancy and destroying their networks," he said. "But these successes are not mine alone. It belongs to all my team members, who worked here and the officials of Bangladesh Police," said Monirul.

"I do not think work of CITC will be hindered due to my departure," he said.

He said alongside successes and failures, he also had some failures. "I am responsible for the unit's failures," he added.

complained Tom Sangma, a local resident.

Many complained about the bridge's structure as a major portion of the footpath was occupied by its ramp. Some also said construction materials including bricks, tiles and sand remain piled up by roadside.

"They constructed the bridge, but they narrowed down the footpath. And now the bridge is closed again. What are they doing?" said a frustrated Farabi Rahman.

This time around, superintendent engineer Arifur Rahman had almost similar things to say.

"The company that built the bridge for us didn't provide any shades over the bridge. As we installed the escalators, we are now setting up those. Besides, we are also doing some footpath construction work as it got damaged," he told this correspondent recently.

"These were the reasons for which we primarily closed the bridge," he said. He also denied that the bridge shakes when the escalators are turned on.

About the complaints of footpath getting occupied by the ramp, he said they had to do it this way as there was a space constraint.

He also said by "retrofitting", they meant strengthening the railings on the footbridge and fixing the damaged portions of the footpath.

"We are not actually changing anything of the main structure," he said. "Once the footbridge opens by March 20, we'll close the crossing on the road and people will be able to use the footbridge again," he added.

However, officials at Maisha Construction had different things to say.

Its engineer Md Mohiuddin, who is supervising the project, said, "We started working according to a design given to us by DNCC. It suggested that along with the overall structure of the bridge, the pillars needed to be strengthened."

"So, we added metal support to the pillars, strengthened those by digging at least five feet, and also added shades and railings."

When asked why the company couldn't finish the work on time, he replied, "We got the design for retrofitting on time but not the design for the shade... It delayed the work. However, we'll finish the work before March 20."

Contacted, DNCC mayor Atiul Islam last night told this correspondent, "Father of a friend of Abrar had offered to build that bridge, and we agreed considering his emotional involvement."

"The escalator was not part of that design. After opening, when we saw the high foot traffic, we decided to add those and knew that the bridge would need reinforcement if the escalators were added and the bridge's capacity increases. That is why we decided to do the retrofitting work at the very start," the mayor added.

was beaten to death by a reported group of Buet unit Bangladesh Chhatra League (BCL) men in a dormitory.

Abrar's father Barkatullah filed a murder case on October 7 that year with Chawkbazar Police Station. The incident triggered a firestorm of protests across the country.

Amid protests on campus, Buet authorities on October 11 banned all political activities on the campus and suspended 19 students, mostly leaders of the university's BCL unit, who were made accused in the case.

Inspector Md Wahiduzaman of Detective Branch of police submitted the charge sheet to the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Court in Dhaka against 25 Buet students on November 13 that year.

Of them, 22 accused were arrested and remanded several times. During the investigation, eight of the accused gave confessional statements to magistrates on different dates.
