Singapore blogger ordered to pay $100,000 for defaming PM

A Singaporean blogger was ordered yesterday to pay almost $100,000 in damages for defaming the prime minister by sharing an article on Facebook linking the leader to a corruption scandal. Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong had accused Leong Sze Hian of spreading false claims about him over the article related to the money-laundering scandal at state fund 1MDB in Malaysia. Critics say the case is the latest example of the tightly-regulated city-state's government being heavy-handed and seeking to silence dissent online. The article that Leong shared, originally published in a Malaysian news portal, alleged that Lee was the target of an investigation in neighbouring Malaysia over the 1MDB state fund. Billions of dollars were looted from the investment vehicle in a scandal that involved Malaysia's former leader Najib Razak and his inner circle.

Australians warned of deadly spider 'plague' after floods

A "plague" of the world's most venomous spiders could swarm Sydney after torrential rain and flooding, the Australian Reptile Park said yesterday, warning that the deadly arachnids could seek refuge in homes as they escape the deluge. Relentless downpours have caused vast flooding in New South Wales state, with parts of suburban northwest Sydney still under water. Residents welcomed sunshine yesterday after days of rainfall, only to receive an "urgent warning" to brace for an influx of the deadly funnel-web spider, which is endemic to the Sydney region. Sydney funnel-webs are widely feared for their notoriously toxic and fast-acting venom, with 13 recorded deaths from bites. However, no one is believed to have died since an anti-venom programme was introduced in the early 1980s.

Exit polls forecast stalemate in Israel's election

Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's prospects for retaining power were uncertain yesterday after exit polls in Israel's fourth national election in two years projected yet another stalemate. With final results not due until later in the week, the forecasts indicated that even Netanyahu's stewardship of a world-beating Covid-19 vaccination rollout - a showcase of his campaign - may not have been enough to propel him to victory. Initial projections by Israel's three main TV channels after Tuesday's voting gave Netanyahu, leader of the right-wing Likud party, an edge, based on the potential support of an ultranationalist rival, Naftali Bennett, once his defence minister. But amended forecasts indicated deadlock even with Bennett's prospective backing, with a parliament divided equally between Netanyahu's likely opponents and supporters. Unless coalition-building talks break a stalemate, a fifth national ballot could ensue.

A girl leaves flowers at the site of a mass shooting at King Soopers grocery store in Boulder, Colorado, US on Tuesday. President Joe Biden has called for a US ban on assault weapons, after the country's second mass shooting in a week left 10 people dead in Colorado and sparked urgent new calls for gun control. Addressing a nation long traumatized by gun massacres in schools, nightclubs, movie theaters and other public spaces, Biden said he did not "need to wait another minute, let alone an hour, to take common sense steps."

'India desires cordial relations'

Modi writes to Imran Khan

REUTERS, Islamabad

Pakistani Prime Minister Imran Khan received a letter of goodwill from his Indian counterpart Narendra Modi on Tuesday, a Pakistani senior Cabinet minister said, as relations thaw between the two nuclear-armed neighbours. India and Pakistan have fought three wars and have shared a fractious relationship since the two gained independence in 1947, and in 2019 tensions rose dramatically as they sent combat planes into each other's territory.

Asad Umar, a senior Pakistani minister, in a post on Twitter welcomed Modi's letter, calling it a "message of goodwill". He added that Khan had already expressed a desire for a peaceful South Asia.

Quoting from the letter, Pakistani newspaper Dawn said Modi had written that, "India desires cordial relations with the people of Pakistan" and "for this, an environment of trust, devoid of terror and hostility, is imperative."

The message from Modi arrived on Pakistan's Republic Day, March 23, and follows a series of moves and statements signalling rapprochement. The two sides are holding talks on water sharing, with Pakistani officials in Delhi.

Last week, the chief of Pakistan's influential army called on the two sides to bury the past.

Last month, the militaries of both countries released a rare joint statement announcing a ceasefire along a disputed border in Kashmir, having exchanged fire hundreds of times in recent months.

Neither country's foreign office immediately responded to requests for comment on the letter.

Reuters was unable to independently verify the contents of the letter.

North Korea fires two short-range missiles

US plays down significance of test

AGENCIES

North Korea fired two short-range missiles at the weekend, US and South Korean officials said, but Washington played down the first such tests under President Joe Biden and said it was still open to dialogue with Pyongyang.

The North Korean activity involved weapons systems at the low end of the spectrum that were not covered by UN Security Council testing bans, two senior officials of the Biden administration told a briefing call on Tuesday.

South Korea's Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) said two cruise missiles were fired off North Korea's western coastal town of Onchon on Sunday morning. The launch marks North Korea's first publicly known weapons test since Biden took office in January.

But Biden downplayed the latest activity, saying "nothing much has changed," while one senior official said it was "normal" testing and warned against "hyped" it.

The test came just days after US Secretary of State Antony Blinken vowed to work to denuclearize North Korea and criticized its "systemic and widespread" human rights abuses while in Seoul with the US Defense Secretary.

The senior US officials said the administration's North Korea policy review was in its "final stages" and would host the national security advisers of allies Japan and South Korea next week to discuss that.

EU NATIONS REBUKE CHINA ENVOYS
France, Germany and other EU nations called in Chinese ambassadors on Tuesday to protest at sanctions imposed by Beijing targeting their citizens, as China and Europe faced off over claims of rights abuses against China's Muslim Uyghur minority.

The diplomatic spat erupted after the EU, Britain and Canada on Monday blacklisted four former and current officials in the Xinjiang region, while Washington, which had already sanctioned two of those officials in July 2020, extended them to the two others. China responded with entry bans on 10 Europeans -- including five members of the European Parliament -- as well as two EU bodies and two think-tanks.

No Indian is outsider in Bengal: Modi

OUR CORRESPONDENT, New Delhi

Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi yesterday said that no Indian was 'outsider' in West Bengal and promised the Bharatiya Janata Party, if voted to power in West Bengal assembly poll, would make a "son of the soil" the chief minister of the state.

"Bengal brought together the people of India through Vande Mataram, and on that land, Mamata-didi is talking about 'bohiragato' (outsider). No Indian is an outsider here, they are the children of Bharat Mata," Modi said while addressing an election rally in Kanthi in Purba Medinipur district. Modi's comments came amid an "insider vs outsider" debate with CM Mamata regularly saying she would not allow Bengal to be ruled by "outsiders" from Delhi or Gujarat which is Modi's home state.

The eight phases polling in West Bengal will start from March 27. Results will be declared on May 2.

Silent strike shuts Yangon

Junta frees hundreds of protesters; country braces for 'big protest' as violence claims youngest victim

REUTERS

Myanmar's junta freed hundreds of demonstrators arrested during its months-long crackdown on protests, while businesses in Yangon were shut and streets deserted in response to a call by anti-coup activists for a silent strike.

Several buses full of prisoners drove out of Yangon's Insein jail in the morning, said witnesses, who included lawyers for some inmates. There was no immediate word from authorities on how many prisoners were freed. A spokesman for the military did not answer calls.

In the biggest city Yangon, a call by pro-democracy activists for a silent strike turned the streets eerily quiet.

"No going out, no shops, no working. All shut down. Just for one day," Nobel Aung, an illustrator and activist, told Reuters.

"The usual meat and vegetables vendors on the street didn't show up," said a resident of the city's Mayangone district. "No car noises, only birds."

Yesterday's strike came a day after staff at a funeral service in Mandalay told Reuters that a seven-year-old girl had died of bullet wounds in the city - the youngest of about 275 people killed in the bloody crackdown, according to the AAPP.

Soldiers shot at her father but hit the girl who was sitting on his lap inside their home, her sister told the Myanmar Now media outlet. Two men were also killed in the district, it said.

Since the crisis started at least 23 children have been killed and at least 11 others seriously injured, UNICEF said.

Activists have called for a "big protest" today.

The Assistance Association for Political Prisoners (AAPP) activist group says at least 2,000 people have been arrested in the military crackdown on the protests against the Feb. 1 coup.

Among those freed on Wednesday, was Thein Zaw, a journalist for The Associated Press who was arrested last month, AP reported, quoting him as saying the judge had dropped the charges because he was doing his job at the time of his arrest.

Waive import duty on newsprint, cut corporate tax of tax proposals for fiscal year 2021-22 beginning July 1.

Speaking at the meeting, Noab President AK Azad said newspapers have to pay 30pc final tax and 32.5 percent tax on their profit.

"It is very hard to pay the tax [at this rate] in the aftermath of the coronavirus pandemic," he said.

Circulation of newspapers crashed during the pandemic and the import cost of newspaper also went up, he said, adding that the industry did not get any incentives from the government.

"We have to use imported newsprint because the quality of the local newsprint is below standard."

Azad recommended reliving the industry of 5 percent newsprint import duty considering the impact of the pandemic.

The Noab president, also the publisher of Bangla daily Samakal, suggested slashing corporate tax on newspapers as it is a public service industry.

Mahfuz Anam, editor and publisher of The Daily Star, said as the government declared newspaper as an industry, newspapers should get benefits similar to those enjoyed by other industries.

The newspaper industry has been seriously impacted by the pandemic and it is in desperate need for whatever the government can do for it, said Mahfuz Anam, also a former president of Noab.

NBR Chairman Abu Hena Md Rahmatul Muneem said the revenue authority will consider reducing import duty on newsprint if it finds that local paper manufacturers cannot produce quality newsprint.

Mozammel Haque Babu, chairman of the Association of Television Channel Owners (ATCO), said many multinational companies are giving advertisements to foreign TV channels which are broadcast in the country as people are watching those.

The government is losing VAT from those advertisements, he said.

On the other hand, many cable operators are not paying VAT despite doing good business. The NBR is being deprived of VAT of about Tk 1,720 crore from the cable operators, Mozammel said.

In response, the NBR chairman said they will take steps to ensure VAT is realised from cable operators properly.

Noab Executive Member Dewan Hanif Mahmud said government offices do not issue VAT receipts when newspapers collect bills from them against government advertisements.

He requested the NBR take steps to make sure that the government offices issue VAT receipts.

Mahmud, editor of Bangla daily Bonik Barta, requested the authorities to waive newspaper of paying advance income tax for the upcoming fiscal year considering the pandemic.

"This might be a lifeline for us."
