appeal, reads a press release sent through its PR agency.

Chattogram-Cox's Bazar Rail Line Construction Project and Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) Line-3 Construction Project, among other works, are facing the problems.

The Civil Aviation Authority of Bangladesh (Caab) has suspended all international passenger flights to and from Bangladesh from April 14 to April 20 midnight.

Caab made the decision after the government imposed an eight-day strict restrictions on public movement from April 14 to contain the sharp rise in Covid-19 cases and deaths.

Two flights had been operating on the Bangladesh-China route every week since July last year, sources said.

Although the government enforced the eight-day lockdown, it kept the eight fast-track projects out of its purview. Recently, Railways Minister Nurul Islam Sujan has said they will not bar contractors from working if they can follow the health safety guidelines.

The CREC said the Padma Bridge Rail Link Project is an important cooperation project between Bangladesh and China. At present, the project is running at a full swing and the project personnel require to travel between China and Bangladesh

Around 30 people, including the project managers, safety and quality personnel, and technical construction personnel in key positions involved in the projects, need to travel between the two countries every week, reads the press release.

Due to the outbreak, the project management personnel and the onsite labour arrangements have been continuously affected.

And now, the flight suspension policy has even worsened the progress of the projects. If these personnel cannot return to the construction site from China on time, some working procedures are going to be difficult to implement, and some work will even be forced to be suspended, it said.

This will directly affect the progress of the construction work," it added.

At present, the pandemic situation in China has been effectively controlled. The Chinese personnel who came to Bangladesh were all vaccinated with two shots, and therefore they will not pose any risk of infection to Bangladesh, added the release.

Contacted, Project (PD) of the Padma Bridge Rail Line Project Golam Fakhruddin Ahmed Chowdhury also admitted

He said a group of experts for starting the installation of rail track under the project is supposed to be in Bangladesh, but their arrival is getting delayed due to the flight suspension.

Some 700 Chinese nationals are now working under the project, he

The government is implementing the Tk 39,246 crore project to connect the capital with Jashore by 2022 with a 169km rail line over the underconstruction Padma bridge.

Another fast track project is the construction of the Chattogram-Cox's Bazar rail line and the CREC is one of the contractors of the CTG-Cox's Bazar rail project.

"The manpower of CREC is not that big in our project. Yes, we are facing a little problem over the issue [suspension of flights], but it is not that big," an official of the project told The Daily Star yesterday.

"However, we are facing problems in bringing construction materials from abroad. We are continuing our work, but it can't be said that we are working in full swing," he said, wishing not to be named.

Some experts required for the Bus Rapid Transit Line-3 were supposed to reach Bangladesh this week, but their arrival got delayed due to suspension of flights, Shafiqul Islam, managing director of Dhaka Bus Rapid Transit Company Limited (DBRTCL), said yesterday.

The government is building a dedicated bus line from Dhaka Airport to Gazipur under the project.

"But the pattern of her temperature is showing a declining trend as she was free from fever the whole day today [yesterday]. But the temperature has increased a bit in the evening."

He further said, "Considering all aspects, we can say her condition is still stable. If we compare her Friday's level of temperature with Saturday's one, we find a little improvement in her condition. But we should keep in mind that we should not evaluate the hospital. "So, we're careful so that no whole situation with only a parameter and we should always remain careful. We're handling everything professionally with our medical skills and specialisation.'

FM Siddiqui said they found Khaleda's temperature around 100.2°F at about 10:15pm on Saturday.

"We've started giving her the antiviral medicine and she has already received two doses of it. We also think the response to the medicine is positive. We've checked her blood circulation and respiration and these are good. Her [oxygen] saturation level is always persistent between 97 and 98 percent."

Stating that the BNP chief's Covid infection entered nine days on Saturday, he said, she was now passing through a complicated time.

"We'll take necessary immediately if we notice any danger signal or deterioration in her condition. As of now, we think weeks of her infection is passed off and we'll continue to closely monitor

Asked whether they have any plan to take Khaleda to any hospital, FM Siddiqui said they still did not think it

"But we'll be able to shift her to a hospital quickly in case of any emergency.

Asked about the BNP Chief's mental health, he said, she was mentally very strong and she urged all to wear masks to protect them from the virus infection.

About her CT scan test report, he said, her infection was very nominal.

The BNP chief underwent the Covid test on Saturday last as eight other people of her residence were infected with the virus and her report came out positive.

Amid the coronavirus outbreak, the government freed Khaleda Zia from jail for six months through an executive order, suspending her sentences on March 25 last year.

He said the 30 West Pakistanis would not be kept in the mission and that any of them "who wish to return to West Pakistan will be allowed to do so without hindrance and at the earliest opportunity."

It is also reported that the entire money in the credit of the Pakistan Deputy High Commission in a Calcutta bank was withdrawn on April 17. The measure had the approval of all senior members of the Associated Press reported today that Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, the imprisoned leader of Bangladesh Liberation Movement, had been taken to another jail after treatment in the Combined Military Hospital in Rawalpindi. Bangabandhu was now at a prison

PURGE OF BANGALEES FROM PAKISTAN CIVIL SERVICE

A purge of Bangalees from the Pakistan armed forces and key Civil Service posts was reported under way. It is reported that the aim was to remove "unreliable elements" from every aspect of the government's drive against the independence seeking Bangalees. Hundreds of Bangalee servicemen in West Pakistan had been sent on leave but had been forbidden to return to their homes in the eastern province. It is further reported that the 20 Bangalee civil servants had either lost their jobs or been given lesser positions.

ACC opens probe into BTCL graft

DWDM is an automated optical multiplexing technology to increase bandwidth over existing fibre networks. A committee formed on June 10 set the estimated cost at Tk 34.13 crore and an international tender was called on December 12, 2019. Five companies took part in the bidding.

Tech Valley offered Tk 27.10 crore, Huawei Technologies Tk 20.73 crore, Uhan Fiberhome Tk 26.26 crore, X-Fer Tk 31.33 crore, and ZTE Corporation Tk 37.40 crore.

BTCL's seven-member evaluation committee unanimously found four companies disqualified and X-Fer's offer the only responsive bid with an evaluated price that is 8.716 percent lower than the official estimate.

The committee included three of BTCL's deputy managing directors, one of them being the chairman; the project director as the member secretary, and an official from the telecom ministry.

Prof Dr Kauser Alam and Lt Colonel Rashedul Islam joined as external members, representing Buet and Bangladesh Army respectively. The tender evaluation recommended X-Fer and it got signatures by the member secretary and both the external members.

But BTCL's deputy managing directors Md Rafigul Islam, AKM Habibur Rahman, Khandaker Jubayer Hasan and Deputy Secretary of the Telecom Ministry ABM Badiuzzaman refrained from signing the report.

They rather disagreed with the recommendation and opined for a re-

They made handwritten changes to several page numbers of the printed report and inserted additional two pages containing their dissenting opinion beyond the knowledge of the members who signed it.

The Daily Star learnt all this from ACC documents, tender-related papers of the BTCL project and a complaint filed by a government agency with the anti-graft body.

Concealing the doctored evaluation report, a separate working paper was presented to the BTCL board.

The 11-member board includes five ministry officials besides the posts and telecommunication secretary and the BTCL MD. The remaining four are external members.

In the 176th board meeting, the ministry officials and the BTCL boss supported re-tender, while the external members were against it as it was

The external members raised their eyebrows as the tender evaluation report was not made available at the meeting. The board decided to discuss the matter at the next meeting.

Still, without the evaluation report, the 177th board meeting, held virtually, decided to call for a retender. Two external members vetoed in writing.

Of the other two external members, the FBCCI representative who participated in the previous meeting was denied access to the Zoom videoconferencing system on the pretext that he was abroad.

The Buet representative was shown, in the meeting minutes, in favour of the re-tender as he did not disagree in

Fazlul Karim, founding director general and now adviser of the Central Procurement Technical Unit (CPTU) of the government, told the Daily Star, "There is no provision in the Public Procurement Act [PPA] or the Public Procurement Rules [PPR] that allows consideration of the nonresponsive bid that failed to meet the qualification criterion or technical specification.'

The rules have made it mandatory to evaluate and compare only the responsive bids, he said.

The evaluation committee has no choice other than to compare the lowest evaluated price with the official estimate. Comparing non-responsive bids with the lowest one is not permitted," he added.

"Opining for re-tender based on disqualified bidder's price means that they deliberately defied the law despite being aware of it."

Replying to queries of this correspondent, he further said there is no provision in PPA or PPR that allows arbitrary cancellation of tender. The authorities may cancel a tender under certain circumstances specified in the

The BTCL tender was cancelled on July 23 last year, and X-Fer was notified 24 days later instead of seven days as specified in the law.

The qualified bidder went to the review panel of the CPTU, an agency responsible for managing procurement by government bodies.

BTCL admitted to the review panel that the procurement rules were not taken into consideration while cancelling the tender.

Interestingly, the review panel recommended action against the project director along with officials who prepared the cost estimate, citing the petitioner's complaint, but at the same time rejected the complaint.

Still, BTCL went for re-tender on September 13, 2020, even before the review panel made its decision on October 8.

X-Fer then filed a writ with the High Court, challenging the decision of the review panel and seeking cancellation of the re-tender and directive to accept their bid.

On October 12, 2020, a High Court bench summarily rejected the writ without issuing any rule.

X-Fer Ltd then moved the Supreme Court, which is scheduled to hold a hearing on the matter today.

For the re-tender, a new evaluation committee was formed excluding the external members of Buet and the Army without informing them. New members were chosen from the Bangladesh Tariff Commission and the Power Grid Corporation of Bangladesh.

Under the re-tender, the new committee recommended awarding the work to ZTE Corporation although its price was found to be inconsistent.

The evaluation committee was headed by the project director of BTCL's MOTN project, which is being implemented by a Chinese firm which participated in the bidding, creating a conflict of interest.

The BTCL board, chaired by the new secretary of the post and telecommunication division, not accept the recommendation and ordered the cancellation of the re-

He also said all Biman passengers who failed to go to Saudi Arabia due to cancellation of flights were taken to a city hotel.

Air Vice Marshal M Mafidur Rahman, chairman of Civil Aviation Authority of Bangladesh, told reporters that they would look into whether there was any lack of sincerity on Biman's part to ensure operating its flights to Saudi Arabia.

Abbas yesterday said, "Former MP M Ilyas Ali was an independent, patriotic and courageous leader. The secretary general [Fakhrul] of our party is present here [at the virtual meeting], I would like to tell him, please make arrangements to identify the scoundrels of our party who were behind the disappearance of Ilias.

Many people know them. The night before he fell victim to enforced disappearance, Ilias had a disagreement with one person at the party office. Ilias rebuked him a lot. Those poisonous snakes are still in our party. If we can't get them out of the party, we won't be able to move forward under any circumstances.

Abbas, also former mayor of Dhaka City Corporation, said, "I got the news between 1:30am and 1:45am that night -- Ilias was a victim of enforced disappearance. I immediately contacted the officials I knew and they informed me that he was being taken to Chattogram.

"The most interesting thing is that the police officers who were there when he [Ilias] was taken, have not been found yet. You [BNP leaders present at the meeting] do not know about this. The police officers who were in the car have not been found as of today. The driver of Ilias's car has also not been found. So, who did this?

"... I assumed that the Awami League government was not involved in the disappearance of Ilias Ali. Who was involved in the disappearance then?"

Former vice-president of Juba Dal Qaiyum Chowdhury presided over the discussion while Fakhrul and other BNP leaders including AZM Zahid Hossain, Shamsuzzaman Dudu, Asaduzzaman Ripon, Khairul Kabir Khokon, Fazlul Haque Milon, and Zahiruddin Swapan took part in the discussion.

Following the writ petition in 2012, the HC issued a rule asking law enforcement agencies to explain in 10 days as to why they should not be directed to produce Ilias before the court or prove that he was not being detained by them.

The HC is yet to start hearing on the rule. Neither the petitioner nor the state has taken any initiative in this

Five law enforcement agencies submitted reports to the HC claiming that Ilias was not in their custody and they did not pick him up or detain him, said sources at the attorney general's office.

Nasa's InSight

Unfortunately, not all has gone to plan. Despite InSight landing in Elysium Planitia, a windswept area of Mars that gets lots of sunlight, none of the passing dust devils (funnel-like chimneys of hot air) have been close enough to clean the panels.

This means that InSight is only getting 27 per cent of the power that t otherwise would – shared between its scientific instruments, robotic arm, radio, and heaters.

To make matters worse, the windiest Martian season has just ended and it could be months before another cleaning event naturally occurs, and Mars is moving away from the Sun. Its already weak energy is getting weaker, and when InSight needs it most, and science operations have had to be put on hold until July 2021 when Mars is closer to the star.

"The amount of power available over the next few months will really be driven by the weather," said InSight's project manager, Chuck Scott of Nasa's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Southern California.

"As part of our extended-mission planning, we developed an operations strategy to keep InSight safe through the winter so that we can resume science operations as solar intensity increases.

Nasa scientists now find themselves in the unenviable position of having to choose which instruments need to be switched off each day to conserve necessary power for the heaters and radio communication.

The craft's weather monitoring will oe off most days, meaning that Nasa will get less frequent updates about its environment, but Nasa hopes that even if the craft did go offline due to a lack of power that it would be able to reboot when the sunlight returns.

Before that, there is some recourse the agency can take to try and spark the lander into life. InSight will move its robotic arm, equipped with a camera, closer to the panels to better image the dust coating later this week.
