HOLIDAYMAKERS SCRAMBLING TO DHAKA Gloomy weather adds to their woes

STAR REPORT
Amid the gloomy weather, holidaymakers were struggling to return to the capital yesterday following the Eid vacation, due to the transport crisis caused by the suspension of long-distance bus service. Over the last three days, hundreds were seen entering the city as many offices and factories have already reopened after the holidays. Many were seen flouting health guidelines -- not wearing masks or maintaining physical distancing -- raising the risk of Covid-19 transmission. While people from high-income groups are returning either in private cars, flights, or rented vehicles, middle-class and low-income people are using cheaper means. But they're also facing all kinds of difficulties as they have to pay two to three times more than the usual fare due to the transport crisis, report our correspondents.

Yesterday, their hassle increased following rains in the late hour of the day. According to data released by Bangladesh Telecommunication Regulatory Commission (BTRC), around 1.06-crore mobile phone users left Dhaka from May 4 to May 15, despite the movement restrictions. Health experts have expressed concerns that the cross-country travelling en masse may cause a sharp spike in the number of new Covid-19 cases. Yesterday, over 100 passenger buses were halted at Kazipur upazila in Sirajganj when buses from different northern districts tried to go through the area to dodge law enforcers on highways. Kazipur police, however, said vehicles carrying passengers to Dhaka were sent back from Sonamukhi area of the upazila. Additional police were deployed at Sonamukhi and other important places of the inter-district road in Kazipur to stop the buses, Panchanand Sarkar, officer-in-charge of Kazipur Police Station, told the Daily Star. Passengers and bus staffers demonstrated on the spot due to that, said witnesses. "I have to reach Dhaka to rejoin my workplace tomorrow [today]. If I don't do that, I might lose my job," said Abdur Rahim, a Dhaka-bound passenger. Rahim claimed that he did not want to go back home amid the pandemic, but he had no choice due to the sudden demise of his father, officer-in-charge of Bangabandhu Bridge (west zone) Police Station Mosaddek Hossain said more than 29,000 vehicles moved across the bridge in the 24 hours till 6am on Tuesday. Most of them were motorbikes, cars, minibuses and trucks, he added.

MAYHEM IN SUNAMGANJ Jhumon Das, sued under DSA, still in jail

DWOHA CHOWDHURY, Sylhet
Jhumon Das Apon, accused in a Digital Security Act (DSA) case filed over criticising Hefajat-e-Islam leader Mamunul Haque on Facebook, has been in jail for over two months. Sunamganj District Judge Court, after hearing a bail prayer filed by Jhumon's lawyer yesterday, did not give any order and postponed proceedings for two months. The Facebook post allegedly led to the mayhem in Noagaon village of Sunamganj's Shalla upazila on March 17, which saw about 90 Hindu houses vandalised and looted. No lawyer was initially willing to defend Jhumon in the case for security reasons, and that is why filing of a bail prayer was delayed, said his family. Lawyer Debangshu Sekhar Das, who later agreed to defend Jhumon, said securing bail in a case filed under DSA is tough for an accused. After the hearing, the lawyer is planning to file an application on Sunday to know whether they will get an order. "The court postponed proceedings without giving an order. If we get an order, we can make appeals," he said. Police, with help of locals, detained Jhumon on March 16 to pacify agitated Hefajat supporters and avoid a possible attack on the village, but in vain. They showed Jhumon (25) arrested under section 54 of Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) and produced him before a Sunamganj court on March 17. The court later sent him to jail. On March 22, police filed the case against the youth and 20-30 unnamed persons under DSA. In the case statement, they attached Jhumon's Facebook post and mentioned that he intentionally spread information

KILLING OF 26 MIGRANTS IN LIBYA IN 2019 CID to press charges for trafficking, not murder

SHARIFUL ISLAM
Nearly two years after investigating the cases filed for trafficking and killing of 26 Bangladeshi migrants in Libya, the CID is mulling to submit charge sheet only for the human trafficking charges in a month, keeping the murder charges pending. Investigators said since except for one, all Bangladeshi trafficking syndicate godfathers and members who had direct link to the killings could not be brought back home for interrogation; they made little progress in the probe into charges of murder and grievous injuries to the victims. "We will submit supplementary charge sheets when we will be able to complete investigation into charges of murder and grievous injuries," Criminal Investigation

Department Additional Superintendent THB (trafficking in human being) AKM Akteruzzaman told The Daily Star recently. The officer said they are expecting to submit charge sheet on human trafficking charges before the second anniversary of the gruesome murders of Bangladeshi migrants. On May 27 in 2019, alleged human traffickers killed 30 migrant workers, including 26 Bangladeshis in Libya. The incident caused a huge public outcry at home and abroad. Discussion on postponed UP, municipal polls today
MOHIUDDIN ALAMGIR
The Election Commission is considering to hold by-election to the Laxmipur-2 constituency -- of Mohammad Shahid Islam, also known as Kazi Papul -- amid Covid-19 pandemic for constitutional obligation. The election commissioners will sit in a meeting today to discuss the issue of by-elections to three others constituencies, polls to 371 union parishads (UPs) in the first phase and voting to 11 municipalities in the sixth phase of the staggered elections. "The commission will hold a meeting on Wednesday on by-polls and union parishad elections that were postponed due to a steep rise in coronavirus infections," EC additional secretary Ashok Kumar Debnath told The Daily Star. According to the constitution, by-elections to fill the vacant seat of a member of parliament should be held within 90 days. Provided that in a case where, in the opinion of the chief election commissioner, it is not possible, for reasons of an act of God, to hold such election within 90 days period, such election shall be held within ninety days following next after the last day of such period, reads the constitution.
