Morning showers drown Dhaka again

UNB, Dhaka Copious seasonal showers led to waterlogging and traffic congestion in several parts of the capital on Tuesday morning, washing away the tall claims of monsoon preparedness by the civic bodies. According to Bangladesh Meteorological Department, the metropolis received 18 mm of rainfall from 6am to 9am. Several areas of the city faced waterlogging problems -- Mirpur, Kazipara and Shewrapara being the worst hit. Busy roads and office areas of Tejgaon, Satrasta, Motijheel, Dainik Bangla, Fakirapul, Kakrail, Shantinagar, Nightingale crossing and Bijaynagar also bore the brunt of the rains. Light to moderate rains/thunder showers accompanied by temporary gusty winds are likely to occur at most places over Khulna division in next 24 hours, according to BMD's weather forecast. Many places over Rajshahi, Rangpur, Dhaka, Mymensingh, Khulna, Barishal, Chattogram and Sylhet divisions are likely to witness similar weather conditions, while moderately heavy to heavy falls at isolated places may occur over the country, said the forecast. As the synoptic situation in the forecast shows the monsoon trough is fairly active over Bangladesh and moderate over North Bay, there is no likelihood of rainfall activity stopping in the next 72 hours in the country.

'Violence weighs heavier on indigenous women'

Speakers tell national-level dialogue

STAFF CORRESPONDENT While violence against women increased nationally over the pandemic, the burden weighs heavier on indigenous women, said speakers at a conference yesterday. "While all the cameras were turned towards the sexual harassment incident of a celebrity, nobody noticed that at the same time, a Koch woman was brutally raped in Tangail," said Chanchana Chakma, member secretary of Bangladesh Indigenous Women's Network (BIWN). Not only did the attackers rape her, but they also completely mutilated her genitals, leaving her critically injured, she said. All three attackers of the Koch woman were Bengali. "We do not know how far the justice process will go when there is no monitoring by anyone," she added. Falguni Tripura of Kapaeng Foundation said even though the attackers tortured her and broke her teeth, the media's reaction and public outcry were different from when such incidents centre mainstream women. "The situation of violence is such that when there is talk of building a five-star hotel on indigenous property, the indigenous woman is the first to feel afraid," said Jona Goswami, director at Bangladesh Mahila Parishad.
