NAGARBARI MODERN RIVER PORT PROJECT

Only one quarter work done after 1st deadline

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Pabna

Mired in land settlement claims, the Tk 500-crore modern river port project on the Jamuna river -- in Pabna's Nagarbari under Bera upazila -- has missed its initial deadline two months ago, with only 25 percent of its work completed.

A total of 36 acres of land was acquired for the project titled 'Establishment of Port Facility at Nagarbari', which went underway in July 2018, with its deadline set for June 2021.

The cost of the project went up another Tk 40 crore after Bangladesh Inland Water Transport Authority (BIWTA), the project's implementing authority under the shipping ministry, extended the project deadline till June 2022.

However, all the work at the project site remain suspended for the past couple of months while most of the land owners remain unpaid of compensation money for acquisition of their land till date.

Arshed Ali Sheikh, a land owner and a resident of Roghunathpur in Nagarbari, said, "Our inherited landed property was acquired and filled up with sand for the construction of the port, but we didn't get compensation for it."

The 72 decimals of land that was acquired from him had crops and other structures on it, he also claimed.

Another affected landowner, Mohammad Rafikullah, who is the chairman of Puran Bharenga Union Parishad (UP), said out of the 36 acres of total land acquired by the authorities, 28 acres belongs to 60 to 70 private owners.

He also said that locals in the area are greatly frustrated as none of the private land owners received any compensation money.

Asked, BIWTA Executive Engineer Nizam Uddin Pathan, also the executive engineer of the new river port project, said they already handed over Tk 90 crore to Pabna district administration as compensation money for land owners.

BIWTA cannot pay the compensation money, as according to rules, the district administration will take necessary steps in this regard.

However, he claimed that the work has been suspended due to lockdown and they would try to finish the work by the new deadline once their work resumes flowing the lifting of the lockdown.

Contacted, Additional Deputy Commissioner (ADC, Revenue) in Pabna Afroza Akhter said the payment of the compensation went on hold after a case was filed with a Pabna court by one Tarek Chowdhury, who claimed ownership of the entire piece of land that had been acquired for the river port.

Son of late Mahim Chowdhury -- from Thanapara village in Bakerganj of Barishal and a former resident of Roghunathpur in Pabna's Bera -- Tarek Chowdhury in the case claimed that he inherited the land where the new river port is being made.

UP Chairman Mohammad Rafikullah said that during an investigation conducted in the village by him and a former UP chairman, locals could not recognise anyone by the name of Tarek Chowdhury in the village.

Their findings have already been submitted last month with the court in a certified statement through their lawyer, he added.

ADC Revenue Afroza Akhter said since the case on the land is ongoing at the court, the compensation payment can only be made upon court order.

VEGETABLE SAPLINGS

Lockdown, incessant rain frustrate growers

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Pirojpur

Farmers, growing different varieties of winter vegetable saplings on floating seed-beds in the district, are gradually getting frustrated, fearing huge losses due to the countrywide lockdown and incessant rain during this peak time of the year.

A number of farmers said that due to lockdown the local markets are closed and the presence of wholesale buyers from other parts of the country is very poor.

"We are unable to sell our produce as wholesale buyers are not visiting the area due to lockdown," grower Mohammad Mostafa of Mugarjhor village Nazirpur upazila said.

The wholesalers purchase different varieties of vegetable saplings from farmers and took those to different areas of the country for sale, he added.

Another farmer Mohammad Waliullah said huge number of vegetable saplings have already been damaged due to excessive rain.

They are already counting losses as the production cost is increasing every year, he said.

Abdul Elahi of the village said they can grow saplings four to five times in a season, but this year they have produced saplings once.

Farmers said after meeting all the expenses they can make a profit of Tk 2 from each sapling, but this year it seem very difficult to get back their production cost.

Farmers in different marshland areas of Nazirpur and Nesarabad upazilas, and Barishal's Banaripara upazila grow different variety of vegetable saplings like beans, bitter melon, papaya, brinjal, pumpkin, tomato and chilli on the floating seed-beds, locally known as Dhap, made with water hyacinth.

Farmers grow vegetable saplings for over five months from June every year.
