10k fake freedom fighters struck off list

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Liberation War Affairs Minister AKM Mozammel Haque yesterday told parliament that the certificates of 10,000 fake freedom fighters accepted from 2002 to 2010 in the civil gazette list have been cancelled.

The process of verification and selection regarding the new inclusion of heroic freedom fighters and cancellation of the names of the accused persons is underway, he said in reply to a query from ruling Awami League MP Nurunnabi Chowdhury.

In a written answer, the minister also informed that the number of gazetted freedom fighters in the country is 1,83,560.

FREEDOM FIGHTERS WILL GET DIGITAL CERTIFICATE

Responding to a question from Awami League MP Benjir Ahmed, Haque said the government will distribute digital certificates (permanent certificates) among the valiant freedom fighters while smart cards among the living families, Haque said.

Education Minister Dipu Moni on Friday said the government was trying to get hold of the vaccines suitable for children aged 12-17.

In another development, Professor Kazi Shahidullah, chairman of the University Grants Commission, told this newspaper that the commission would consider if any university authority expresses willingness to reopen its campus even before October 15, the date set earlier for resuming in-person classes.

He added that the resident students must have at least one shot of a Covid-19 vaccine and the national positivity rate must be between 5 and ' percent.

Dipu Moni on Friday said it was decided that universities would reopen in mid-October but if the authorities of a university want to reopen sooner, they can do it afterSeptember 12.

Dipu Moni yesterday told reporters in Chandpur that the government had specific plans to make up for the losses in learning due to the pandemic.

'BSF' shoots man dead

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Lalmonirhat

A Bangladeshi man was shot dead allegedly by Indian Border Security Force at Dantbhanga border in Kurigram's Roumari upazila early yesterday.

The dead, Shahibar Rahman, 36, was from Ambari village in Dantbhanga union of the upazila, police said.

The incident took place near Kauniar Char area of Dantbhanga union.

Upon receiving the information, police recovered the body of Shahibar Rahman in the presence of Border Guard Bangladesh (BGB) members on Saturday morning and brought it to the police station.

Quoting locals, Dantbhanga Union Parishad Chairman Reazul Haque said a group of people, including Shahibar, went to India on Friday night to smuggle cattle into Bangladesh.

At that time, BSF members from Dwipchar camp in India opened fired at the Bangladeshis, leaving Shahibar with bullet wounds to the chest.

Shahibar's partners rescued him from the spot, but he died on the way home. Police recovered the body from his house in the morning and took it to the police station, the UP chairman said.

However, family members of the deceased claimed that some locals, including Shahibar, went fishing in a river in the border area. Shahibar was shot dead when the BSF members opened fire on him taking him for a smuggler. They said Shahibar was not involved in smuggling.

BGB 35 Battalion's Dantbhanga Company Camp Commander Subedar Jayen Uddin said Shahibar's family members and locals told them that he was shot dead by BSF.

"We have sent a letter to the BSF asking them about the firing at border, but the BSF didn't reply until 3:00pm [yesterday]," he said.

Roumari Police Station Officer-in-Charge Montaser Billah said the body would be handed to the deceased's family members after an autopsy.

The deaths rate stands at 1.75 percent.

Of yesterday's deceased, 30 were male and 31 female.

The highest 32 of the deaths occurred in Dhaka division followed by 13 in Chattogram, six in Khulna, Hasna Begum, mother of Sufian four in Rajshahi, two each in Barishal and Rangpur and one in Sylhet division. Since March 8 last year when the first three cases were reported in the country, the first wave of Covid-19 ended as the positivity rate declined below five percent in February this vear.

not recommending the vaccination of all 12- to 15-year-olds against Covid-19, preferring a precautionary approach in healthy children due to a rare side effect of heart inflammation.

The advice could see Britain pursue a different approach to the United States, Israel and some European countries, which have rolled out vaccinations to children more broadly.

However a final decision has not been taken, as the British government said it would consult medical advisers to look at other factors, such as disruption to schools.

Many politicians and some scientists have spoken out in favour of vaccinating more children amid concern that Covid-19 could spread in schools that are re-opening after summer holidays, further disrupting education.

A Taliban source said fighting was continuing in Panjshir but the advance was slowed by landmines placed on the road to the capital Bazarak and the provincial governor's compound.

"Demining and offensives are both going on at the same time," the source said.

It was not immediately possible to get independent confirmation of events in Panjshir, which is walled off by mountains except for a narrow entrance.

Celebratory gunfire resounded in Kabul on Friday as reports spread of the Taliban's takeover of Panjshir, and news agencies said at least 17 people were killed and 41 hurt in the firing.

Meanwhile, Pakistan's spy chief Lieutenant General Faiz Hameed flew into Kabul yesterday, sources in both capitals said. It was not clear what his agenda was, but a senior official in Pakistan had said earlier in the week that Hameed, who heads the powerful Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) agency, could help the Taliban reorganise the Afghan military.

"I assure the people that we strive to improve their living conditions, and that the government will be responsible to everyone and will provide security because it is necessary for economic development, not just in Afghanistan but in the whole world, Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar, the head of the Taliban's political office, told Al Jazeera from Kabul.

Baradar added security was necessary to kick-start major economic projects in the country.

The Taliban swept into Kabul virtually unopposed on August 15 following rapid advances across Afghanistan, as United States-led foreign forces withdrew from the country and President Ashraf Ghani fled.

On Friday, sources within the Taliban told Reuters news agency Baradar, a co-founder of Taliban, would lead the new government in Afghanistan, with Mullah Mohammad Yaqoob - the son of late Taliban founder Mullah Omar - and Sher Mohammad Abbas Stanikzai taking senior roles.

"We wrote to our embassies in the countries concerned requesting information as to whether those countries or any other agencies have any records about the victims, but we did not get any reply," a CID investigator said with frustration.

Sixteen survivors narrated to the media the perilous journey they were forced to take and how the victims drowned one by one.

According to a criminal law expert, it is difficult to prove charges in these cases without concrete evidence.

"If the investigators and the prosecution fail to produce hard evidence, it is highly likely there will be no conviction," Supreme Court lawyer Khurshid Alam Khan told The Daily Star.

Khurshid, also editor of Dhaka Law Reports (DLR), said, "It is possible to prove the charges against the accused even if the victims cannot be found. In that case it needs strong circumstantial evidence."

He suggested formation of a separate investigation agency and appointing special prosecutors to deal with cases involving human trafficking, money laundering, and suspicious transaction as these crimes are often interlinked.

With law enforcers struggling to get information about the victims, reports of fortune seekers perishing in boat capsize in the Mediterranean continue to pour in.

Quoting International Organisation for Migration (IOM), international news agencies reported that around 500 migrants died in the central Mediterranean route in the first four months of this year.

Last year, more than 2,200 people perished at sea, IOM said in a report in March this year.

said local manpower broker Motiur Rahman offered a job for her 18-yearold son in Italy.

Despite financial hardships, she gave Tk 8.5 lakh to the broker. She had to borrow heavily and sell whatever little properties she had to collect the money, in the hope that one day her son would be able to change their fortune.

"My son called me from Libya on December 22, 2018, exactly seven months and 22 days after he left home," Hasna told The Daily Star by phone.

"'Amma, I will fly to Italy today. Keep me in your prayers' -- this was the last thing he ever told me... Since then there is no trace of him," said the grieving mother.

Three days after the conversation with her son, she called Motiur to know her son's whereabouts, but Motiur only said Sufian would call her. "But my son never called again." She called Motiur three days later again, only to find her number blocked.

Finally, she sued Motiur and his wife Mahbuba, who allegedly received parts of the contract money from her, in December in 2019.

CID records show Sufian was killed in a boat capsize in the Mediterranean Sea near Tunisia coast.

Sabbir Khalid is another trafficking victim. His elder brother Shahnaj Mia filed a case with Jalalabad police in October 2019 against seven people.

"The only information we got from Billal, who survived the boat capsize, is that my brother drowned in front of his eyes," he said.

agents misguided voters to vote for Habibur as most people were unfamiliar with EVMs.

They, however, did not lodge any written complaint with the returning officer in this regard.

M Kazi Emdadul Islam, deputy commissioner of Sylhet and the returning officer (RO), declared the result at 9:00pm.

However, only 1,20,591 votes were cast from 3.49 lakh, from Dakshin Surma, Fenchuganj and Balaganj upazilas, which means only 34.46 percent of all voters exercised their voting rights.

Around 8:50am, only 25 out of 1,932 votes were cast at the Purbobhag Govt Primary School centre in Dakshin Surma upazila.

A total of 399 votes were cast till 4:00pm -- only 20.65 percent of the total, said Md Abdul Momin, the centre's presiding officer.

This correspondent visited 15 of the 149 centres and witnessed a low turnout of voters in all of them.

At Kotalpur Government Primary School centre in Fenchuganj upazila, 27 percent votes were cast till around 2:00pm.

Alauddin, a farmer in Dakshin Surma upazila, voted at the Haji Mohammad Raja Chowdhury High School, said, "People are busy these days with farming and no longer interested in elections as the result is predictable.'

However, RO Emdadul Islam said the votes cast ranged between 30-40 percent.

EVMs (electronic voting machines) were used in all centres, which confused many voters, but they were happy as there were no long queues.

Polin Begum, of Fenchuganj upazila, after casting her vote at Dargapur Govt Primary School, said, "I was afraid before coming to the polling centre, but it was easier than I thought."

NZ Covid outbreak claims first death in six months

AFP, Wellington

New Zealand recorded its first Covidrelated death in six months yesterday, but health authorities said there were signs the outbreak of the highly infectious Delta variant was coming under control.

A woman in her 90s, who had underlying health conditions and could not receive a ventilator or intensive care support, died in an Auckland hospital on Friday night.

She is the 27th person to die with Covid-19 in New Zealand and the first recorded since February 16 this year.

Authorities said the woman was a household contact of a person who had already tested positive for the virus in Auckland, New Zealand's largest city with a population of around 1.7 million.

The death was "a deeply sad reminder of why the measures we are undertaking right now are so important," Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern said.

"Our older New Zealanders and those with underlying health issues are by far the most at risk from the virus, and one of the reasons lockdowns are such an important tool
